Sleebner-eye view of "Inner Harbor" will be delivered to city hall today.

3-by-5 Love Letter To City

By TED PULFORD

A YOUNG, long-haired artist will arrive in Mayor R. B. Wilson's office this morning with a large canvas under his arm.

On it is a painting of the Inner Harbor—but it is a likeness of the famed waterway such as neither the mayor nor any other Victorian in his most vivid imaginings has ever seen before.

The painter puffing along toward the chief magistrate's office will be Herbert Sleebner, about to begin the most important day in his life.

Love, Thanks

He will present the painting to "the city of Victoria, with love and thanks for giving me a place to live," then rush over to the new courthouse at 10.15 to become a citizen of Canada.

"I owe very much to Victoria," Mr. Sleebner said last night as he lounged beside the blazing fire of the Inner Harbor. "It has given me—a place to work in freedom."

The German-born painter, whose last rally into the field of civic abstraction raised a dust over Prince George which hasn't settled yet—hoped Victorians would be more broad-minded over his gift.

No Humor

"These people have no sense of humor," he scoffed, reminding the uproar raised by the Prince George Chamber of Commerce over a Sleebner "aerial view" of the northern city.

"If they wanted a photographic likeness, then they should be looking at soap-shots instead."

After carefully pointing out which direction was up on the city's forthcoming gift, Mr. Sleebner admitted that many people were shocked at their first sight of an abstraction—particularly an abstraction of an old landmark.

Europe Tour

For everyone who accuses the controversial Mr. Sleebner of being a pitcher of paint—however, there—in someone else to acclaim his work as fresh, imaginative and vigorous.

He has just received a Canada Council grant for research in sculpture-coloring techniques and will leave shortly on a tour of Europe.

It has not yet been decided where in city hall "Inner Harbor" will hang. "They can do what they wish with it," concluded Mr. Sleebner. "It's for the city I love."

CCFer Warns

Labor 'Gangs' Threat

U.S. labor hoodlums may be trying to find their way into the B.C. labor movement, Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCF—Vancouver-East) warned in the legislature yesterday.

His warning was followed by a disclosure from Attorney-General Robert Bonner that a prominent B.C. labor leader has been receiving physical threats. The labor leader is thought to be Pat O'Neil, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

Mr. Bonner said RCMP have been called in to investigate the threats and to investigate the Clayton Stratton killing which has been linked with union activity.

BEAT PICKET

Stratton had been arrested in Vancouver for beating a union picket and was released on $300 bail after saying he had come from Port Angeles especially to take part in the beating.

Stratton, a 42-year-old U.S. seaman was shot after forcing his way into the Vancouver home of Gustav Strathie and pistol-whipping him. It is thought the attack was a case of mistaken identity and that

Mountie Loses A Leg

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—A 41-year-old Terrace man has been charged with attempted murder in the .303-calibre rifle shooting of an RCMP constable who answered a bank holdup alarm.

Charles Augusta Dilley will be arraigned in court before Magistrate C. J. Norrington.

Constable Gary Frazer, 27, is in serious condition in hospital in this west-central B.C. village. He was shot in the abdomen, leg and arm by a masked gunman early Thursday.

LEG AMPUTATED

Hospital officials said Frazer, the father of a year-old daughter has had his leg amputated below the knee.

Police said a suspect in the bank holdup was captured by a number of citizens.

Bank employees said the gunman fired a volley of shots through a glass door and hit the policeman as he entered the Bank of Montreal branch.

The masked man escaped with an estimated $3,800.

'GUN IS LOADED'

Bank manager E. F. Murray said a man, wearing a loose stocking mask and carrying a rifle, came in and ordered: "Get back against the wall; this gun is loaded."

107 Missing In Plane Over Pacific

MANILA (AP)—A chartered airliner bound for South Viet Nam with 107 persons aboard was missing and presumed down in the western Pacific today. The plane carried 93 U.S. military personnel, three South Vietnamese and a civilian crew of 11 Californians.

The Super-Constellation of the Flying Tiger Airlines was lost on the Guam-to-the-Philippines leg of a trans-Pacific flight from Travis Air Force Base in northern California.

U.S. bases in the western Pacific mustered an armada of planes and ships to search for the missing plane. All they had to go on was the pilot's last routine radio message to Guam sent about 270 miles west of that U.S. base.

The plane took off from Guam at 8:57 p.m. local time Thursday carrying fuel for about nine hours of flying. It was due at Clark Air Force Base north of Manila at 8:00 a.m. Friday.

WIDE SEARCH

The search began from Clark and Andersen Air Force Bases on Guam at dawn Friday. U.S. Navy, marine corps and coast guard planes joined in from the Philippines, and several navy vessels set out from Guam. Air force planes from Okinawa were also participating.

BOUND FOR VIET NAM

Military sources in Saigon said the plane was bound for South Viet Nam and was due there this morning.

U.S. Pilots Raid Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary McNamara confirmed yesterday that American pilots had fired troops while flying training missions under combat conditions in South Viet Nam.

He was the first official to confirm on the record that American pilots had strafed Viet Cong troops.

Three Saved From Ship

ADAK, Alaska (UPI)—A fishing boat took three crewmen off the sinking 130-foot vessel Sea Venture last night about 145 miles east of this Aleutian island naval base.

Drug Ring Smashed

RACINE, Wis. (UPI)—Federal narcotics agents and Racine County authorities last night arrested five men in what was described as a $75,000 heroin and marijuana ring here.

DONALD SLAYTON

Skipping Heart Ousts Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heart trouble has forced astronaut Donald Slayton out of his assignment for the next orbital space flight and the job will go to M. Scott Carpenter, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday night.

Doctors said Slayton's condition was regarded as a "erratic heart rate."

The condition was detected in November of 1959. NASA said. At that time it was decided Slayton, an air force major on loan to NASA, should continue in the program and the condition should be monitored closely.

Disappointed
An air force medical board meeting Thursday to review the case advised NASA that Slayton should not attempt the mission, known as the official Project Mercury scheduled as MAT.

A board of civilian cardiologists confirmed the condition. On learning the board's decision, Slayton said he is extremely disappointed "to realize that I will not be piloting MAT—well I'm very disappointed to say the least."

Western A-Plan Rejected

By ALAN HARVEY

GENEVA (CP)—Rival plans for world disarmament and Russian rejection of a Western nuclear proposal featured the first working day of the 17-nation Geneva conference Thursday.

The Soviet turnout of President Kennedy's plan for a safeguarded nuclear test ban treaty came at a sidelines meeting of the three nuclear powers after the end of the 17-nation group's 75-minute deliberations.

Arthur Dean, U.S. nuclear test ban negotiator, proposed conclusion of a treaty based on an earlier Anglo-American draft with modifications to safeguard against secret test preparations.

'French Size' Blast

BELGRADE (AP)—A foreign diplomatic source in Albania yesterday predicted Red China will explode its first atomic bomb on a Tibetan desert in June.

The report came from Tirana, Albania's capital, where many Red Chinese officials have congregated since Albanian boss Enver Hoxha's break with Moscow.

BIG IMPACT

The Chinese A-bomb was described as relatively small, about the size of the French bomb exploded on the Sahara.

In spite of its modest size, its detonation is aimed at achieving a tremendous psychological impact on Asia and the rest of the world.

Proximity of a Red China nuclear weapon test has been common knowledge among Western observers for about a week.

Many scientists are surprised that the Chinese have not already tested a bomb in view of the now-relatively simple process of building one.

MANY CAPABLE

While nations which pioneered nuclear technology spent billions of dollars and several years perfecting techniques and producing a practical weapon, scientists now say nuclear capability can be achieved even by countries which are regarded as only semi-industrialized.

One U.S. expert said any country which could field a team of 25 PhDs and 300 engineers could create a nuclear blast.

10 POUNDS FOR BLAST

The prime ingredient, U-235 or plutonium, is produced incidentally by commercially available nuclear power plants. About 10 pounds of plutonium will make a detonator and a collection of detonators can be converted into an H-bomb.

CHAMPAGNE PINK

Deuterium, a commonly used fissionable material in nuclear bombs, is now little more costly than good champagne and not much harder to get.

Western intelligence experts believe the Chinese started their nuclear weaponry research during the Korean War and that it is probably headed by French-trained physicist Chien San-chiang.

AMERICAN ON TEAM

Ironically, reports indicate that a U.S. physicist, Joan Hinton, is one of those employed on the Red Chinese nuclear team. In the U.S. she worked at Los Alamos.

A Russian-built power reactor in China is reported to have been activated more than three years ago and the Japanese report that three other small reactors are probably in operation.

Their total plutonium output would be sufficient to trigger several test weapons.

Grit Sees Sacred Victory

Liberal MLA J. Gordon Gibson thinks Social Credit will be re-elected if Premier Bennett calls a surprise election this year.

The fiery North Vancouver millionaire last night told the legislature the premier shouldn't threaten the opposition with an election.

"I believe you would go back in," he told the Socreds. "You've got enough seats now. You don't need any more."

Liberal leader Ray Perrault winced at his member's remarks.

But Premier Bennett was all smiles.

"There you are," said the premier, turning to Labor Minister Peterson who has been reportedly opposed to calling a surprise election.

BCE Bus System Offered for $1

By JACK FREY

Premier Bennett yesterday offered to sell the B.C. Electric transit system to the municipalities for a nominal sum of $1.

The premier's offer was made during a special meeting with mayors and reeves of Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver.

He said if they accept his offer, he will introduce in the legislature a bill guaranteeing a fixed subsidy until existing franchises expire, and that future governments will be assisted to continue a fixed subsidy for "an undetermined number of years" beyond that time.

It was reported that B.C. Electric lost $1,000,000 in Vancouver and $300,000 in Greater Victoria during the last year of bus operation prior to the franchise expire, and that war between the Roundheads and Royalists.

It's been a lost cause so far, but Wheatley-Crowe declared: "I have no regrets. I shall try to keep on fighting."

He launched the campaign in 1905 by forming a group known as "The Royal Martyr Union."

King Charles had been a devout Christian all his life and after the restoration of the monarchy the Church of England set aside a special feast day for the "martyr" king.

But after the 1888 revolution which brought William and Mary to the throne, Charles' name was struck from the church calendar, largely for political reasons.

It has never been put back.

The Royal Martyr Union claimed about 500 members at its peak. Many of them were peers.

"Most of them are dead now," the old cavalier sighed. "People said I wasted my fortune but I've done what I said I'd do. I've tried. And I'd do it again."

Modern Cavalier for Martyr King

LONDON (AP)—Henry Stuart Wheatley-Crowe estimated yesterday he has spent $25,000 trying to get King Charles I back on the Church of England calendar.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A battle between special interests and the "ordinary" people is taking shape in the U.S.A. President Kennedy yesterday sent Congress a $10,000,000 package of consumer-protection proposals.

Among them are safe, effective medicines, beauty aids that won't burn a lady's skin, a TV set that will get more channels, installment contracts that show the true rate of interest, and wider inspection of meat.

It will be interesting to see which Congressmen come out against these changes in doing so, they will announce themselves as the champions of special interests.

Many Canadian members of Parliament have voted against laws to spell out rates of interest on loans clearly, so that the customer can see what he is doing.

It is time that each member of Parliament—and each MLA—was rated on his voting and speaking record.

Grades would go all the way down from five stars to minus five. I can think of several in the provincial legislature who have earned a low mark.

Appraisal Needed

Let's have a cool, objective appraisal of each one of our lawmakers, and a report to the people on them. I think the Canadian Association of Consumers might do it.

Said President Kennedy: "The average housewife just doesn't have enough information about the highly complex products that she buys. She needs more guidance."

Of the $2,000,000,000 worth of cosmetics marketed in the United States since the war, many are dangerous. Some have burned women's eyes, skins and hair.

Many of the 9,000 new drugs developed in the last 25 years have saved lives. Others have been useless, or dangerous.

The president urged compulsory tests before a drug is marketed, to make sure it is effective and safe.

Five stars for President Kennedy. When are we going to see his equal in Canada?

Pop-Bottle Row

Is this a tempest in a pop-bottle? Conflict broke out yesterday between two rival soft-drink firms over the right to put up a neon sign on a small grocery store at the corner of Camosun and Pandora in Victoria.

The storekeeper thought there was room for two rival signs on his wall—so he told both companies to go ahead. Manufacturers of Brand A put up a sign. Along came a posse from Brand B and tore it down.

Police called in the city building department to make peace. Rival firms will meet in a round-table conference today.

Your Good Health

Don't Bundle Babies In Warm Weather

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My married daughter is under the influence of a former registered nurse who lets her own child dress in around half-naked. Her babies are kept in the playpen—not in their cribs, barefoot, and wearing diapers only. The youngsters are always having colds and earaches. She fills them up with aspirin and penicillin, and the poor kids are full of medicine.

I have known some wonderful mothers who were registered nurses, but why do we have to have crackpots like this one?—Mrs. R. J.

Frankly, I'm not wed to the idea that children should be bundled up too heavily. Get a child all sweaty from too much clothing, and then he's going to be more sensitive to a chill from a draft.

Foundation Opposes Secret Deal

MONTREAL (CP)—The Foundation Company of Canada Ltd. Thursday told shareholders that the directors and several of the larger and most influential shareholders will not accept an offer made by an unidentified client of the National Trust Company to acquire 300,000 of the 1,888,816 shares of Foundation.

A letter to shareholders said because of the secrecy of identity of interests seeking to acquire effective control of the company, they could not recommend acceptance of the offer.

The offer, made Tuesday, said the first 300,000 shares of Foundation tendered the National Trust Company would be bought at $14.75 a share, about $3 above the current market price.

Light or moderate clothing is perfectly all right for children in mild weather or in a warm house. In really hot weather, a minimum of clothing is comfortable and adequate.

NOT SANITARY

But in anything but hot summer weather, I certainly favor more than just a diaper—a shirt, at least.

About letting children remain wet—most certainly not. It is neither sanitary nor comfortable for the child.

The results of the situation you describe should be evidence enough to convince your married daughter that she should not follow this pattern with her own babies. Frequent colds are bad enough. The earaches you mention are an even more dangerous sign. They mean infection—and ultimate impairment of hearing.

Dosing with aspirin and penicillin is no substitute for keeping children healthy in the first place. And while we're at it, something is very wrong if a woman is getting penicillin to use so casually.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am concerned about a family who had a gas burner installed in their coal furnace. They never put any water in it. What effect will this have on their health?—Mrs. M.D.

It depends on the furnace. If it's a steam or hot-water system, there isn't anything to do to the furnace except keep enough water in the boiler. If it's a hot-air unit, then they should keep the humidifier tank full of water. In order to keep the house from getting too dry.

If the house gets too dry, it will dry out noses and throats, and leave them somewhat more subject to all the different kinds of cold and flu germs. Or so we strongly believe.

B.C. Invaded by Gangs?

Stratton had been sent to attack someone else and invaded the wrong house.

Mr. MacDonald admitted that in the U.S. criminal elements have fattened themselves on the labor movement and that in some cases hoodlums were taking control.

"I am fearful it could happen here," he said.

Mr. MacDonald warned that the Stratton case could be the start of labor gangsterism.

CALLS FOR PROBE

He called for immediate government investigation into the case.

"The labor union movement must get protection," he said, or fight back itself.

"We must not tolerate goons or muscle-men."

He called for a full investigation as to how Stratton and his companion (who has since disappeared) got into B.C.

HAVE IT NAMED

"If a trade union is involved, let's have it named. We must stamp out intimidation when it takes place."

He said it is intimidation when a man comes into this country with a gun on his hip.

"These are threats to the labor union in B.C. from an element that should be kept out of the life of this province," he said, adding it was the labor department's duty to keep those elements out.

SENT TO BONNER

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson said he already had received requests from the Vancouver Labor Council and the Teamsters' joint council asking for an investigation of the Stratton case.

He said he had told both groups that it would appear to be a matter for investigation by law enforcement agencies rather than the labor department. He has passed the requests to the attorney-general's department for investigation.

Mr. Peterson said he has requested the labor group to let him know if they feel additional legislation is needed to guard against gangsterism in trade unions.

LOONE TERM

Attorney-General Bonner said the term gangsterism was entirely too loose and that he has referred the case to the RCMP.

He said that if anyone is coming into the country with dynamite in his pocket, that is a criminal offence.

He also disclosed that a prominent member of the trade union movement in B.C. is receiving physical threats and had asked him to turn the matter over to the RCMP. He did not disclose the name of the trade unionist.

Tasarkin, told Dean and Joseph Godber, British minister of state for foreign affairs, the only treaty Russia would sign was on the basis of Soviet proposals of last Nov. 28.

That plan called for reliance on national systems of detection of violations rather than international inspection. Tasarkin's answer was said to have been abrupt and flat, with no sign of give and take.

PRESENT PLANS

The exchange came after the U.S. and the Soviet Union presented plans for world disarmament at the initial working session, which was under the chairmanship of External Affairs Minister Howard Green of Canada.

Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko tabled a draft treaty for "general and complete disarmament" under international control.

The two rival positions, outlined on the second day of the conference, will form the basis for detailed later discussions in committees and working groups.

BRISK BUSINESS

Though there was little that was startlingly new in the big-power proposals, conference sources drew encouragement from the brisk and businesslike nature of proceedings.

Green, chairman under the rotating system adopted largely at Canada's urging, told reporters he thought the biggest post-war disarmament conference was off to a "fairly good start."

Western informants saw the Soviet proposals as little more than an elaboration of the Russian disarmament plan presented in September, 1958.

B.C. Bus Problem: Four Choices—Reeve

Greater Victoria has four choices on the B.C. Electric bus problem, Saanich Reeve Stanley Murphy said last night.

"The area can hire private operators, take over the service, ask the provincial government to renew its existing agreement, or let the transit system crumple to a halt with the public wrangling its wrath" on the provincial and municipal governments, he said.

"There is no tendency to push the panic button," said Reeve Murphy, intermunicipal committee's transit study group will examine the problems thoroughly and report to the various councils.

Reeve Murphy's views on the four possibilities:

- Private operation—Schedules and fare structures would depend on the balance sheets.
- Municipal operation—Any profit would be used to improve service and lower fares. A loss would be subsidized by taxpayers or in part by the provincial government.
- Provincial operation—The status quo is always attractive, except to bus users.
- No buses—This is unthinkable, but delaying action is possible to play for extra time.

Farmers 'Use' Immigrants

Some farmers are taking advantage of immigrant labor, James Rhodes (NDP-CCF-Deputy) charged in the legislature Thursday.

He said the labor department's attention should be called to cases where farmers "use" immigrants who cannot speak the English language.

"I am sure the government doesn't want them to be taken advantage of," said Mr. Rhodes.

He also urged provisions be set up which would bring farm workers under the hours of the Work Act, setting the maximum weekly work period at 40 or 44 hours.

Labor Laws 'Peddled' For Sacred Backing

A charge that the government had "peddled" its labor legislation for Social Credit party campaign funds sparked a brief row in the legislature last night.

Tony Gargrave, NDP-CCF member for MacKenzie, said people who "drink in the carpeted lounges on Hastings and Granville Streets" compliment the government because it keeps labor in its place.

"You peddled your legislation for campaign funds," he shouted.

Labor Minister Peterson said the remarks were "absolute untruth."

Peaceful Algeria Hope of the Dead

Three Shoot Six Die In Minutes

ALGIERS (Reuters) — "These people were to build an Algeria of tomorrow, and now they are dead; pretty soon we shall all be dead."

The Moslem who spoke stood in front of the bullet-riddled wall of a long barrack near a big villa in the Algiers suburb of El Biar. The concrete floor was wet from water hoses used to wash off bloodstains. A barefoot Moslem woman still stood there, sobbing and pointing to the ground.

"This is where they killed Monsieur Marchand. And this is where they killed Monsieur Bassett," she said.

THREE MINUTES

It took three minutes for three Europeans armed with machine-guns to carry out a daring execution of six directors of social centres, an organization formed to train Moslem youths in the skills of various trades. Three of those shot were Europeans, three were Moslems.

The rightist Secret Army Organization, fighting a desperate terrorist battle to keep Algeria French, claims the social centres have been a hotbed of Arab nationalism.

GUN DOWN CROWD
In other incidents of terrorism during the day:

A carload of Europeans machine-gunned a crowd of Moslems waiting for a bus. Ten Moslems were slain.

Three Europeans and five Moslems were killed in individual attacks.

By nightfall in Algeria, more than 41 were dead.

HIT CEASE-FIRE
The aim of the current wave of murders is to sabotage the imminent cease-fire between France and the Moslem nationalist insurgents, who have been waging a 7½-year war in Algeria.

The cease-fire was expected sometime this week as Franco-Insurgent peace talks entered their final phase at the French Alpine resort of Evian.

41 Killed in Peru

Camp Buried By Avalanche

LIMA, Peru (AP) — An avalanche roared down on a Peruvian workers' camp northwest of here Wednesday and officials of the Cerro de Pasco Corporation announced 41 persons — most of them women — perished.

The husbands of the women victims were at work on a nearby hydroelectric plant when the avalanche struck.

It was the latest in a series of avalanches which have taken hundreds of lives in Peru since the first of the year. Heavy

Shocked

Liberal party's surprise victory over Conservatives in key Orpington constituency was a "shock" to Tory leadership, Prime Minister Macmillan said yesterday.

Seattle Firm With China Seeks Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Applications for permits to export 10,500,000 tons of wheat and barley to Red China and North Korea have been filed by the International Trading Company, Seattle, Wash., government officials reported yesterday.

These officials, who declined to be quoted by name, said the applications now are under study by the commerce department.

IF APPROVED
There is no indication in the applications, officials said, whether the Seattle company has had any direct dealing with the North Korean and Red Chinese governments.

The company may have filed the applications in the hope of entering into a commercial deal with the two governments if the permits were approved. There now is no trade between the United States and North Korea and Red China.

True Test or Protest?

Liberals Up in Clouds After U.K. Byelections

By DOUG MARSHALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain's Liberal Party is dancing on air after a sweeping byelection victory in the Conservative stronghold of Orpington.

Liberal candidate Eric Lubbock obliterated the Tories' lead of 14,800 in the last election and headed for Westminster with a sensational majority of 7,855 votes.

Expert opinion had given the election to fiery Conservative candidate Peter Goldman but predicted the minority Liberal Party would give him a good fight.

INTO OVERDRIVE

Then on the dawn of the ballot The Daily Mail's opinion poll said the Liberals would win. This, together with Liberal gains in the Blackpool byelection Tuesday, threw all party machines into overdrive.

Later tension mounted in Orpington, a commuters' suburb 40 miles south of London, when it was learned the Liberals had sliced into the Tory vote in Wednesday's Middlesbrough

East byelection, a seat safely retained by the Labor Party.

The three byelection results—two near misses and one solid bull's-eye—will certainly rally flagging Liberal hopes that they can achieve an effective number of seats in the next election.

But similar if not so spectacular Liberal gains in the "little election" of 1958 were shattered in the 1959 general election when the maverick Tory voters returned to their fold.

The Liberals however, who now hold seven seats in the 630-seat Parliament, will find it difficult to restrain their hopes that the mighty party of Gladstone and Lloyd George will once again be heard and feared throughout the land.

And, with at least five more byelections pending, Britons have found an admirable long-shot to back in the lull before the flat-racing season opens.

Shoots B-70

Battling pressure for development of B-70 supersonic bomber, U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara told Congress yesterday costly plane couldn't be ready until well into missile era, and then would be obsolete.

Incomprehensible

EDUCATION Minister Peterson is on weak grounds when he defends the use of foreign textbooks in B.C. schools with the excuse that Canadian textbooks per se are not necessarily free from criticism.

Probably no school textbook written anywhere is so perfect as to be beyond criticism.

That is not the criterion. The heart of the matter is that Canadian children should in the main be taught via the rote of Canadian books. How else can the ethos of the country, its history and its point of view, its customs and traditions, be imparted to its rising generations?

There is room for ancillary textbooks so that a general awareness of other ways be absorbed, but these should be at a minimum.

By Mr. Peterson's own account the situation is far from that. Only 50 per cent of B.C. textbooks are of Canadian origin, the remainder coming from Britain and the United States. The British books represent but 7.4 per cent of the total and are appropriate because Canada has a British heritage and its institutions and history are inter-related.

Without prejudice to a friendly neighbor, however, the proportion of American textbooks, some 42 per cent in all, is far too much. Many of these books, also, refer to persons and events as "national" when as far as Canada is concerned they are not national at all. Canadian students are bound to be misled when brought up to such an extent on a diet of American influence which presents learning written from a distinctly foreign concept.

Few other countries in the world would permit its young people to be educated to such degree by books written or produced in another country.

It is incomprehensible that the provincial government should not prefer Canadian textbooks written by Canadian authors, but instead should acquiesce so complacently in the indoctrination of its students by foreign authors.

Deplorable

A VETERAN CCF member says the scene in the legislature on Wednesday was one of the worst displays in his 21 years in the House. It must therefore have been strident and rowdy in excessive degree, for the James Bay institution has a poor record for calm and reasoned discussion.

One had hoped that the present session would not be MLAs shouting like unruly children, as so often before, but apparently old habits stick.

That the speaker was over conditions at Jericho School for the Deaf is beside the point, although since one cabinet minister has a son there his views on the subject would seem to have verity. But if it had not been this issue it would have been some other.

Each side accused the other, in an impolite and interrupting squabble, of playing politics with a subject of grave human interest. By their behavior both sides were playing politics, otherwise they would have examined the situation with the earnestness it deserved.

This is not the way to carry out public business. The legislature lacks dignity, and that is the sad part of it; as well as being deplorable.

A Vice-Regal Visit

BY THE NATURE of things governors-general cannot be seen too frequently in all the reaches of so far-flung a country as Canada. Their presence at the centre of national events compels a permanent residence in Ottawa. Journeys to other parts are of necessity limited.

This will make the visit of Governor-General Vanier all the more interesting when he comes here in May, however. He is a very distinguished soldier and a picturesque personality to boot. Victorians got their first glimpse of him when he visited this area on his first vice-regal tour after assuming office in 1959, but have been denied closer acquaintance since then.

The governor-general will present a new color to the Royal Roads college at its graduation exercises, an annual ceremony of much local interest and one that will be enhanced by the attendance of General Vanier. For the cadets it will be an occasion unusually highlighted.

This will complete the governor-general's tour of the three tri-services colleges, and happily it gives Victoria another opportunity to bid him welcome.

Poor Argument

A REPORT FROM Ottawa says "defence planners" make no secret of their opinion that the Bomarc has at North Bay although fully equipped with missiles and electronically ready for action cannot be considered really operational until the missiles are fitted with nuclear warheads.

The military reasoning of these unidentified persons is said to be "that a nuclear warhead is necessary to detonate in the air a nuclear bomb carried by an attacking bomber. Otherwise, a collision between a Bomarc and a bomber might bring down the bomber but the bomb itself wouldn't explode until impact with the ground, causing widespread radioactive fallout."

If this is an argument for immediate efforts to secure atomic warheads for the Bomarc, it probably will strike most Canadians as a poor one: more an example of militarism in the unfavorable sense of the word than of military reasoning. For if the Bomarc were ever called into action, it surely would make little difference whether nuclear bombs exploded in the air or on the ground in northern Ontario; the fallout that might reach heavily-populated areas, if any, as the result of ground-bursts as opposed to air-bursts, would be of small account in the general holocaust that could be expected.

Certainly this is not the sort of reasoning that should lead Canada to rush into trying to acquire nuclear weapons while there yet remains a chance that general or atomic disarmament may be achieved.

"May the Good Lord forgive me—'tis the first time I've said 'Top of the morning' to Sergeant Murphy without putting a hole through his hat."

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships,
and sealing wax ...
BY TOM TAYLOR

THERE is a notion in some places that individuals are alone in themselves and singularly detached from all others. The truth is of course that they are moulded by the company they keep.

And that company is all the people they meet, associate with, read about, or learn of by hearsay. The flavor of others leaves a patina behind.

So it is that a personage may become a little part of someone else. Putting it in another way, that he or she may impinge on another in greater or lesser degree.

You might say if you like it is a case of taking over a bit of another's mind, even if intermittently.

For yours truly anyway it has been that way with two English knights, one of whom, Sir Philip Gibbs, has just died at the ripe age of 84 years. It is his passing that we have revisited this dual memory.

The other, Sir Jack Hobbs, is still going strong if quietly at the age of 73.

I never met either so the relationship has been vicarious, but each in turn possessed my interest at various times. In the result they secured a particular niche in my mind.

I suspect this to be because, to my way of thinking, they each had in great measure the quality of grace, both professionally and in themselves. They seemed to me to typify the best type of English gentleman.

Gibbs was a journalist, novelist and libel lawyer, a professional cricketer, their realms thus widely separate, but they shared a common quality of modesty and human fineness.

Sir Philip entered Fleet Street in the days of the top hat, and his fictionalized version of journalism in that time became a best-seller, "The Street of Adventure." He was also the reporter whose men exposed Dr. Cook's false claim to have reached the North Pole.

Later he wrote many novels depicting the social scene as the pattern of modern history made its impact on English life.

It was his war correspondence days in 1914-18 that made him famous and won him a knighthood, however; the graphic dispatches which etched in unforgettable terms the struggle on the Western Front. I dare say it was the sympathy and human understanding of all his writings that drew me to him.

Sir Jack Hobbs entered my mental world by other means: I spotted him as small boy doing his sporting heroes. He never could know of the northern schoolboy who would run a mile to the nearest library, literally, to see how many runs he had scored.

I never saw him play, but that made no difference; although it was a disappointment that nine years ago he was out when I entered his sporting goods store in Oxford Street.

As I grew older it was the artistry of Hobbs that appealed to me. He scored more centuries than any other cricketer but it was the manner of his batting that became legendary. He was immaculate at the crease, a master of elegant strokes. The knighthood that came to him was tribute to his person and to his skill alike.

It would be the graceful quality of both Gibbs and Hobbs, I dare say, that took such possession of my interest, a counterbalance to its lack in my own disposition.

Good, Rich Delting

BY IVOR BROWN from London

SINCE words are used all the time by all sorts of people for all sorts of essential as well as trifling purposes one would expect radical changes in their use to meet the radical alterations in our ways of life. Yet in our spelling as well as our vocabulary we are conservative, irrational and sentimental.

There have been ample suggestions for reform and several inventions of a simple international speech—medium. But Esperanto, language of hope, and its kindred are not widely loved. Shaw was determined, but in vain, to give us a better alphabet. C. K. Ogden invented Basic English which greatly eased the language problem for utilitarian purposes. It received some official nod of approval in Britain, but where is it now?

Logic and language apparently cannot be fellow-travellers. To the spelling reformer it is simply retorted that we cannot have the Bible and Shakespeare wearing a new look. And that settles it.

So, then, to the time of our so "common" tongue, on we go for our archaisms and our Babel. But there must be some invention. The scientists make that inevitable. Yet they, too, are antiquaries, addicts of what is now called "trad." What shall we call the latest product of the chemist?

The answer is found in the lexicons of ancient Greek and Latin, languages which are less and less taught and by the scientists more and more used. The polysyllabic creations, a formidable host, force their way into any dictionary which moves with the times. The new Webster has amassed a hundred thousand newcomers since the last edition appeared in 1934, and its word-aggregate is climbing to the half-million.

That means brevity and simplicity in definition if the resulting lexicon is to be of manageable size. The new edition can be had in one massive volume or two; the latter form is more portable. What would the father-funder, Noah Webster, who soldered against Borgey and became an editor of a daily newspaper as well as a great verbal scholar, have made of all this "verbo-juce" to use a term invented by H. G. Wells? Mr. Polly, much of it laboratory lingo and far from juicy?

When Noah launched his "American Dictionary of the English Language" in 1828 he was a pioneer in a manageable field. His heirs in editing are grappling with a vast, untidy continent.

The word "international" in the title of Webster's Third New International is justified by the inclusion of essentially English and Commonwealth as well as essentially American words.

The Packach

BY GREGORY CLARK

A PURCHASING agent of my acquaintance who works for a large corporation has quite a collection of small paintings and framed photographs in the waiting room outside his office. On his way to the office he often picks me up so I could collect some trout flies he had just bought. When we entered his office, he paused as we went through the waiting room and, with most deliberation and care, he went from picture to picture and shifted each of them slightly off track. Not much.

"You've got them crooked," I protested, offering to straighten them.

"Leave them," he said. "I muscular; in short he's a doll." The delivery of that view is the great Ethel Merman, the empress of show business musicals. Webster has its eye on all that's gay and wacky as well as on all that is profound and esoteric. Not only the lecture-rooms and scientific laboratories are under scrutiny.

Mention of dolls brings us to guys. Definition of the guy as a supporting rope might have prompted the Webster compilers to reflect how ancient is the use of guy as a supporting man, a champion. The medieval Scottish poet Dunbar, in his famous praise of London, called its mayor a guy, and implied that he was a great guy, too. To Miss Merman he would have been both guy and doll.

One of the upstarts is naturally beatnik. The British members of this movement are generally regarded as uncouth devotees of curious musical rhythms who are chiefly concerned to be hirsute, ragged and unwashed.

But the original "beats" of the Western world were only playboys, as Webster reminds us, but "preoccupied with exotic philosophizing and self-expression." The note on beatnik refers us to nudnik, a person little known here. The "nik" termination is noted as a Yiddish term for somebody connected with a cult or habit. But we need not regret our lack of nudnik, since they are connected with "the habit of being a bore."

What a Tohu-Bohu is the verbal mass which has to be included in any large dictionary of our time! That is a term for confusion and for what Sean O'Casey's Paycock called a terrible "state of chaos." It is not Yiddish but Hebrew. But it has been good enough for Walter Lippmann, as it was once for Mr. Gladstone.

Grimly slogging on, the Webster editors have coped with the Tohu-Bohu of new and old words from as "rough and scoriaceous" lava, to zyzogoten, which is a large South American leechhopper. They have given those in search of word-wisdom 2,730 pages in which to good and inevitably to skip.

Here is good, rich delting for the human zyzogoten; also information of many kinds, including how to address your letters to "a barren's daughter" or to the bishops of all the churches. Could the English ask for more?

The problem is that, for India, this is not just a Right-Left polarisation as we know it. It is a question of India going on with Mr. Nehru into the space age or backward with the Samkhya pantheism into the long shadows of the dark ages. It would mean as India we could ill afford: morally isolated from the Communist world, a prey to communalism and dissimilarity, dedicated to sacred cow dung as a child-birth disinfectant, oral prescription and priestly appointment.

Admittedly over the next critical years left him Mr. Nehru must also check the widest policies of his Leftists; more socialism, he knows, would drive congressmen further right. Besides he accepts, finally, that he has not enough time for more socialism and would settle in Congress, as in India, for liberalism per se.

Unfortunately, even liberalism looks a Himalayan dream with the recent election results strengthening orthodox tendencies within Congress. Some of Mr. Nehru's other "little local difficulties" include settlements with Pakistan and China, a numbing populism increase which annually maps up hard won planning advances, and a decline in the efficiency of the administrative services, suffering grievously from Parkinson's law.

ONE of the commonest fallacies today is the assumption that because a man is an expert in one field, his opinions necessarily have authority in every field, however far removed from his specialty. An illustration of this kind of thinking was provided here last week by Dr. Brock Chisholm. Speaking on the dangers of war, he declared that in the opinion of some nuclear physicists, the human race has only a limited probability of surviving the next 10 years; some put its chances as low as two out of five.

Nuclear physicists presumably understand the workings of the hydrogen bomb, and some of them doubtless know how to get new hydrogen bombs. The subject of international politics and military strategy, however, they have no claim to special knowledge. Their opinion as to whether and when the bombs will be dropped carry no more authority than those of anyone else. Citing their views on the probability of war is as pointless as calling on an expert gunsmith to predict whether a Yiddish who owns a revolver will shoot his wife with it in the next 10 years.

It Flashes By

Instant Reading

By CASSANDRA from London

I SEE that 60 members of the Foreign Office are taking a 10 weeks' course on "speed reading."

The Americans, who pioneered this technique, call it "dynamic reading."

A fair average speed of reading is about 250 words a minute; 500 words a minute is very good, and you go through the word barrier at 700 words a minute; 1,000 words a minute is "instant reading."

It is claimed that the "comprehension factor" (Oh, this jargon!) can be increased with "the velocity of word-intake"—which is, of course, inversely proportional to the square root of the pressure on the eyeballs.

I read at a tremendous pace. Articles, letters, pamphlets, memoranda, booklets, magazines, newspapers and great hefty tomes are devoured at a breathless speed. This old rheumy eye of mine races along the lines, reverses, dives, accelerates, brakes and flashes on.

And what have I understood?

Absolutely nothing. I can read a nursery rhyme in a split second and be none the wiser. I can read a paper on the piezoelectric crystal of barium titanate and just not notice the theme go by.

The faster I go—and nobody ever passes me as I roar up the typographical autobahn—the less I understand. My mind is not sullied by a single thought.

I propose to institute a 10 weeks' course for SLOW readers with compulsory moving lips to see if I can find what the heck all this printed stuff is about.

Slither Suits

When some years ago I was in Japan there were so many people in Tokyo that they had one-way walking in the streets. One pavement for one direction. The other for the reverse flow.

Since then the population has soared to 94,000,000 and will reach 100,000,000 within a comparatively short time.

Not only are there more and more Japanese, but there are larger and larger Japanese—for they are growing taller.

One ingenious solution to the prodigious jam-pack is the Slither Suit.

The "Slither Suit" is made of a tough but slippery synthetic fibre.

It enables agile Japs to slide their way through the crowds like greased sels.

Warm Glue

I feel a bit queasy. I've got the sensation of eating a bowlful of warm sweet-scented glue. I've been trying to swallow a profile of Russia's Number One man.

You need an iron stomach when you read this description of Khrushchev as seen through the eyes of his son-in-law, Aleksei Adzhubei, who is the editor of Izvestia.

Mr. Khrushchev can recite poetry.

He loves music. He is devoted to the ballet. He likes football.

He drinks only water. His friends are the 230,000,000 members of the Communist Party.

He loves them dearly. They love him, too. He is a man of the people. He is an early riser.

He writes very well. He is decisive. He works hard.

And he is a nature lover who likes to raise rabbits.

That bit about the bunnies is the final turn-up. I just dig the crinkly-nose stuff. Life is just a bowl of lettuce. This simple, clean-living ascetic fan, who recites poetry and is a naturalist who comes from the haunts of cook and henn, was also mulling up with the great mass deportations of the Ukraine and Crimea.

His cousin was General Berov—a grimy thug with a record of terrorism from the Baltic to the Black Sea. Khrushchev was either a willing accomplice of Stalin or an amenable associate who held his tongue for 25 years while the abominations of that era flourished.

But back to the bunnies—your Big Bro Rabbit.

Losing Their Grip

Communist elections have always been closely run affairs in Communist countries and 100 per cent of the total population saying "yes" in perfect union has usually been held to be a fairly satisfactory state of affairs.

Just about the "Nose." A landslide, however, took place in Bulgaria recently when polling took place.

In December, 1957, when the last general election occurred, the Communist Fatherland Front only got 99.95 per cent of the vote.

Last Sunday they merely polled 99.91 per cent of the vote.

What's this? Revolt—and red, red revolt at that?

Forcible Exodus to North Planned for 2,000 Sons?

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver newspaper says authorities are considering a plan that would involve the transplanting of some 2,000 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors from British Columbia to Canada's north.

The paper says in a Nelson dispatch the idea is one of several full or partial plans being discussed in private by authorities.

"There is no official announcement because elected officials are unwilling to face harsh remedies... until every other avenue has been explored."

DESTROY KRESTOVA

Without identifying the authorities, except to say that they are responsible for governing and policing the troubled Kootenay area, the paper says the plan would see:

Destruction of the Freedomite stronghold of Krestova; forced migration of an estimated 2,000 men, women and children to the northern parts of western provinces and the Yukon and Northwest Territories; purchase of land, construction of houses and welfare services that would last for years; denial of freedom of movement and association with Orthodox Doukhobors.

WELL AWARE

The paper says the authorities are well aware that federal and provincial officials must choose between civil rights and civil war.

"If the present condition is allowed to drift along, more trouble is inevitable. It could wreck the economy of a large segment of B.C. It could lead to killing of innocent people. Civil war — involving several thousand armed, tough and independent people — is a possibility."

These facts were the subject of dozens of private conferences and conversations.

CHANGE LAWS

The paper says the plan would require amendment of the British North America Act, and the Bill of Rights and several provinces and territories would have to pass enabling legislation.

CONCENTRATION CAMP

Other partial solutions considered by authorities, the paper says, include one for turning Krestova into a great concentration camp with barbed wire and soldiers on guard and another for taking the children away from their parents.

Bombing Feared

Kootenays Repeat Call For Troop 'Deterrent'

NELSON (CP) — A renewed call went out Thursday for federal troops to train in the strife-torn British Columbia Kootenays and act as a psychological deterrent to arsonists and bombers.

The Kootenay-boundary citizens committee on Doukhobor affairs, a semi-official group, renewed the call issued last week by Attorney-General Bonner which was rebuffed by Ottawa.

VIOLENCE FIRST?

In wires to H. W. Herdridge and Murray McFarlane, MPs for Kootenay West and Kootenay East, the committee said: "Request you again call for troops in this area on a training basis. Do we have to have a hydro plant destroyed before action is taken?"

TO AID POLICE

In reply to Attorney-General Bonner's original call for troops to train in the Kootenays following a crippling power-line blast, Defence Minister Harkness said troops would be sent only if requested as necessary to aid police. Mr. Bonner said he did not want a state of emergency declared in the present circumstances.

TWO ARRESTED

Meanwhile, two Sons of Freedom Doukhobors have been arrested and charged with the bombing of a 364-foot steel power line pylon on the shores of Kootenay Lake last week. The tower carried vital power lines two miles across the lake.

The resulting power shortage threw close to 1,000 men out of work.

Engineers are investigating the possibility of stringing a temporary line across the lake but no definite plan has been formulated.

It was learned Thursday that the Sons of Freedom sect has been warned that unless they can prove their members are serious, their plan to re-settle in Brazil will fall through.

Two Thugs Rob Man Of $20,000

HAMILTON, Ont. (UPI) — A north end tavern owner yesterday was assaulted and robbed of $20,000 by two bandits.

Nick Masney was returning from a bank with money to cash cheques for workers. Police said the robbers hid in a garbage can and grabbed Masney before he was able to get out of his car. Hamilton police had set up a dragnet but not stopped any suspects.

OTTAWA (UPI) — Some 14,000 men have entered the Canadian Army militia as a result of the first two army survival training programs, and more than 1,500 men have joined the regular forces, army headquarters announced yesterday. Militia strength is now more than 62,000.

Rail Dispute

Unions Reject Mediation Bid

OTTAWA (CP) — An unsuccessful attempt was made this week to win union support for an independent tribunal of three leading Canadians to mediate contract dispute between the major railways and their 104,000 non-operating employees, informants said Thursday.

The idea, advanced by key officials in the federal labor department, was placed before Frank Hall, chief negotiator for the "Non-Op" works.

TURNED DOWN

He turned it down, insisting on the traditional three-man board consisting of a labor nominee, a company nominee and an independent chairman. Labor Minister Starr has informed the railways and the unions that a conciliation board will be set up. The next move is up to the parties — to pick their nominees to the board.

Turkeys For Sheep

EDMONTON (CP) — Officials of the Alberta Lands and Forests Department reported Thursday that 12 Rocky Mountain sheep from Alberta have been traded to South Dakota for 14 wild turkeys.

The turkeys were released in the Cypress Hills Park near Medicine Hat and are the only ones in Alberta. If they adapt to their new environment they may eventually become game birds.

The sheep will augment herds in South Dakota.

In University Act

Criminal Offence Can Cost Ontario Graduate's Degree

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto graduates convicted of drunken driving or any other criminal offence can lose their degree, an Ontario legislative committee learned yesterday.

The subject came up at the legislature's private bills committee when Laurentian University of Sudbury, Ont., sought the same power. The committee struck out that section of a Laurentian University bill.

The section would have given the university's disciplinary court, subject to the university board and senate, the right to "cancel, recall or suspend" a degree given to a graduate on conviction of an indictable offence or for "infamous or disgraceful conduct."

W. C. Alcombrack of the attorney-general's department said: "It's a completely wrong principle, although it's in the University of Toronto Act."

Vote Count Delayed Union Says

TRAIL (CP)—Results of a contract vote affecting about 4,200 employees of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company in southeastern British Columbia are not expected until about noon today.

A spokesman for the Independent International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelters Workers said vote counting had been delayed because of Cominco's widespread operations. It was to have been known Thursday after a two-day vote.

Terms of the two-year contract allow for an average 7½-cent-an-hour wage increase that would cost Cominco $1,500,000. No fringe benefits were provided for, at the union's request.

Huge Claim Lodged

Perini Pacific Limited has lodged a $3,000,000 claim in connection with construction of foundations and substructures on the Port Mann Highway bridge crossing the Fraser River, the Canadian Press learned Wednesday.

If allowed in full, the claim would push the cost of the Trans-Canada Highway span well beyond the $25,000,000 original cost estimate.

The claim is being heard by a three-man tribunal, headed by Hon. James M. Coady, retired justice of the B.C. Supreme Court.

Its sittings are being held in camera.

MUTUAL AGREEMENT

Mr. Coady, sitting with engineers S. A. Sanderson and H. J. Barrett, to hear argument in the claim, said there was some mention at the first session that by mutual agreement between the parties involved that the hearings would not be open to the press.

The claim arises from a $7,555,582 contract awarded to Perini Pacific in 1959 for substructure and foundation work in sandy silts of the Fraser River, which the Port Mann bridge crosses four miles upstream from New Westminster.

The bridge, originally scheduled for completion this year but now not expected to be finished for another 18 months, is a Trans-Canada Highway project under which the federal government shares a portion of the cost with B.C.

RELUCTANT

Representatives of the parties involved in the claim — which if granted in full would boost the foundations work cost to more than $12,000,000 — have been reluctant to discuss the details.

Highways Minister Gagliardi said no claim has come to him, but he added that he understands that the tribunal is hearing all sides of the question before sending the claim to him.

Special Bill of Rights Means Reduction of 'Basic Rights'

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Manning said yesterday there is a "real danger in trying to reduce" fundamental rights and freedoms to statute form.

He spoke during debate in the legislature on a public bill designed to establish an Alberta bill of rights complementary to a federal bill adopted by parliament two years ago. The bill was introduced by Ernest Watkins (PC—Calgary Glenmore).

Mr. Manning said the real question involved in adopting any bill of rights is not whether the fundamental freedoms spelled out are important, but whether they can be ensured best by a statutory declaration.

"A bill of this kind is misleading in what it does because it cannot give the protection it says it can," the premier said.

Mr. Watkins, in proposing second reading of the bill said such a statute is needed to allow people to pinpoint authority of freedoms such as those of life, liberty, security, enjoyment of education, employment and property, freedom of religion, of speech, of

Penticton Irish To Hike 10 Miles

PENTICTON (CP)—Some 400 Sons of Erin are expected to take part in the annual St. Patrick's Day walk March 17. The walkers will hike some 10 miles from Penticton to Summerland. Singer Dennis Day has been invited to participate by Mayor Patrick Flannery.

Pushed Car Needs Plates

DUNCAN—A motor vehicle which has no motor may save on gas but it still has to have a licence.

An 18-year-old Duncan student was fined $5 here yesterday after hesitating to plead guilty to operating a motorless motor vehicle which was not licensed.

After first accepting a not guilty plea the court finally agreed with the crown's contention that in the eyes of the law the motorless vehicle was a motor vehicle.

Student Kurt Adleborg changed his plea to guilty. He had been steering the car while a friend pushed it with another vehicle.

Chinese Accuse John D

WINNIPEG (CP)—Members of Winnipeg's Chinese community Thursday charged Prime Minister Diefenbaker with breaking a promise he made with them last November.

PROMISE GIVEN

A spokesman for a delegation which met the prime minister here last November to ask for relief from alleged persecution of Chinese by the RCMP said that Mr. Diefenbaker had given a definite promise to stop the investigations.

"He told us then that his promise was in strict confidence, and we have kept faith," the spokesman said. "But he has not kept faith with us."

NOT ACKNOWLEDGED

He said members of the community have written the prime minister twice since Justice Minister Fulton said in the Commons Jan. 19 that investigations into possible irregularities in Chinese immigration would be continued.

There has been no acknowledgement of receipt of the letters, the spokesman said.

REPORTS DENIED

Mr. Diefenbaker twice denied reports that he had given any promises to the delegation at the November meeting, once immediately after the reports were published, and once in January.

Fourth Biennial Revisited

By INA D. D. UTHOFF

A second visit to the Fourth Biennial of Canadian Painting allows one to concentrate on the less assertive works and to fully appreciate the finer points in the show as a whole.

There is a great deal of really significant painting in it as most of Canada's leading artists are represented and this year many new names have appeared whose work deserves to be better known.

It is such a large show that many of the paintings have not been hung.

The very large ones take up so much wall space that much good work is inevitably crowded out. It has been the policy in most "open" shows to limit the size of each painting, but in the 1961 Biennial of Canadian Painting there were no restrictions enforced. One canvas that attracted me, particularly was Jacques De-Tonnancour's "Composition in Green," which seems to take a new direction in this artist's work in his subtlety and concern with the paint quality.

But there are many indications of new movements in the established groups in Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

The non-representational group is numerically predominant in each area, but one cannot always agree that it attains a higher degree of competence than the good representational painting with some personal vision and stylization.

There is a good deal of "gimmick" in many of the paintings—cement, sand, paper, enamel and rubber-base household paint take the place of the costly tubes of artists' colors of former days.

In the midst of all this striving for new sensations, Joe Plaskett, Frank Palmer, Gitta Caiserman and Leon Bellefleur go quietly on their way, developing their own personal approaches.

Jack Shadbolt's "Dark Expelled" demonstrates his mastery of color. Pierre Gendron's "Archipel" glows warmly, and Maxwell Bates' powerful "Studio Interior" shows a good deal of experimentation in the use of paint.

John Korner's "Passiflora" lives and breathes on the canvas.

The standard of the drawings and water colors is disappointing, but Molly Bobak's "Oslo Street" is of her usual fine quality.

City Repeats Decision On Ambulance

City health committee yesterday repeated its recent decision not to consider starting a city-operated ambulance service.

Discussion was sparked by a letter from the Silver Throats Service claiming an injured pensioner was "pestered" for payment by the driver of a private ambulance.

But members of the health committee did not change their minds. They were told two weeks ago that it would cost the city some $50,000 a year to operate its own ambulance.

Confidential Files 'Tapped' by Bureau?

OTTAWA (UPI)—Secretary of State Noel Dorian promised yesterday to check into reports that an Ottawa mailing persons bureau has access to confidential files from such government departments as veterans' affairs and health and welfare as an aid in its work.

Andy Capp

"You'll soon get the 'ang of this jury service, pot. Just sit back, listen carefully to the evidence, weigh up all the facts in yer mind—an' try not t' snore."

Railway Future in Parleys

OTTAWA (CP)—The future jobs of many railwaymen—perhaps the future of the railways themselves—will be discussed when conciliation hearings open soon on the contract dispute between the big railways and their non-operating employees.

Labor Minister Starr is expected shortly to set up a three-man conciliation board, which will have the task of trying to settle one of the most complex labor disputes in railway history.

BOARD MAY FAIL

The board itself may fail to settle the dispute, but it could produce a report that might be basis for a settlement.

The board's hearings will be the arena in which the railways and unions will fight out their rival contract proposals.

The 15 non-op unions, bargaining for some 104,000 off-train railway workers, want a two-year contract, a 22-cent hourly pay boost, plus a job security plan that will protect all workers with five years or more service.

COUNTER PROPOSAL

Breaking new ground, the railways filed a counter-proposal of a three-year contract, a work security program, an unspecified wage increase and other benefits in return for a major overhaul of traditional seniority groupings, without violating craft lines.

Each side balked at the other's proposals. Their talks collapsed last month, without getting to grips on any real bargaining. Now the fight shifts to the conciliation board.

UNIONS INSIST

On wages, the unions are insisting that pay increases must be related to the earnings of workers in the durable goods industry. They contend this industry has been established by past conciliation settlements as the yardstick for railway pay.

The railways reject the claim that the durable goods standard is firmly rooted. They have offered a pay increase only as part of an over-all economic package that includes revamped work rules and new security matters.

High Court Clears Chatterley

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada ruled yesterday in a 5-4 decision that the controversial novel, Lady Chatterley's Lover, is not obscene.

The court's decision means that the D. H. Lawrence novel can be sold in Canada because it does not violate a section of the Criminal Code prohibiting obscene literature.

FOUR DISSENT

The decision was announced from the bench by Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau. He stated that the four dissenting judgments were by Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin and Justices Gerald Fauteux, C. H. Locke and himself.

The five judges who made the majority decision were Justices John R. Cartwright, Douglas Abbott, Roland Marland, Wilfrid Judson and R. A. Ritchie.

SET ASIDE

The Supreme Court's judgment set aside decisions by Judge T. A. Fontaine of Montreal in June, 1960, and the Quebec Court of Appeal.

Judge Fontaine ordered confiscation of copies on sale in Montreal and banned distribution of the novel in Quebec.

APPEALS ALLOWED

Mr. Justice Taschereau said appeals by three Montreal newsstand dealers against the Quebec Appeal Court decision were allowed, the charges against them were dismissed and the court ordered that seized copies of the book be returned to their owners.

Blast Rock, Sooke Demands

Aroused local residents want the federal government to blast out an unwanted rock obstructing the channel at the entrance to Sooke harbor.

A petition bearing more than 500 names has been delivered to George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich. He promised to place the district's case before Public Works Minister David Walker.

A spokesman for Sooke residents said the offending rock is washed at low tide and constitutes a menace to navigation. It is particularly dangerous under certain conditions of wind and tide.

So far all attempts to mark the rock by beacon have failed. Wind and tide combine to sweep the beacon away.

Presence of the rock restricts the entrance to Sooke harbor to a channel 175 feet wide. The rock is opposite the easterly point of Whiffin Spit.

The spokesman said: "The economy of the Sooke district suffers severely... since vessels which would otherwise use Sooke harbor are deterred from entering on account of this navigational hazard."

Local organizations are also attempting to enlist support of towboat concerns and others interested in using Sooke harbor.

General Inspects Survival Course

The new adjutant-general of the Canadian Army, Maj.-Gen. W. A. B. Anderson of Ottawa yesterday completed a two-day inspection of the national survival course at Bay Street Armoury.

Maj.-Gen. Anderson, who was appointed to his current post in January, has been on continuous military service since he joined the Frontenac Regiment as a student at the age of 18.

Teachers To Help

OTTAWA (CP)—Five Manitoba teacher trainers will be sent to Malaya this year to help establish a training college for technical teachers, the external affairs department announced Thursday.

The Canadian government already has supplied $15,000 worth of technical school equipment to Malaya under the Colombo plan and has been asked to continue to equip new technical classrooms as they are built under Malaya's five-year development plan.

B. F. Ady of Winnipeg, now director of vocational education for Manitoba, is expected to leave Canada March 26 to lead the group. Others to be recruited through the Manitoba education department, will fill positions in the Malayan training college as director of training, lecturer in pedagogy and shop instructors in woodworking and metalworking.

Army to Decide Smugglers' Fate

OTTAWA (UPI)—Military officials and not the government will decide whether Canadian army personnel caught smuggling gold and opium in Indochina will be court-martialed, Defence Minister Harkness said yesterday.

He told the Commons the decision would be made by the commanding officer involved as well as the army's law officers once it had been established whether evidence collected constituted a prima facie case against the men involved.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced earlier this week that seven army personnel as well as two civilians serving with the Indochina Truce commission had been caught smuggling gold and opium within Indochina itself. The prime minister said some of the army personnel had been "disciplined" before being sent home from Indochina, but he indicated no further action would be taken against them until investigations were completed.

Seven Sign Three Shun $10 Pact

OTTAWA (UPI)—Seven provinces have signed agreements with the federal government to implement the recent $10 a month increase in old age assistance, blind and disabled persons' payments, Health Minister Monaghan said yesterday.

He told the Commons the only provinces which have not signed such an agreement were B.C., Saskatchewan and Quebec.

He said six of the agreements were retroactive to Feb. 1.

Rising Labor Star at 25

Count's Son Leads Unions

WINNIPEG (CP)—The son of a former Danish count has made a rapid climb in the labor movement here to reach a top union post at the age of 25.

Otto Andersen is the youngest man ever to be elected president of the Winnipeg Building Trades Council. The council has 20 unions and 5,000 members under its wing.

His new leader is the son of Count Ernst von Oels of Oels, Denmark, who renounced his title in the 1920s and changed his name to Andersen.

The elder Andersen was an ironworker and young Otto followed his father's craft, serving a five-year apprenticeship as a structural ironworker in Copenhagen. Wanderlust brought him to Canada in 1956. He worked in Edmonton, Kitchener, B.C., and Vancouver before settling in Winnipeg.

Andersen, tall and blonde, married a Norwegian immigrant here and they have two children.

In Winnipeg, fellow ironworkers elected Andersen business agent of his local and two years later he became head man on the Building Trades Council.

Province 'Exploding'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A University of British Columbia professor said Wednesday the province's population is increasing at a rate double that of Canada as a whole. Professor Charles W. McCann of the school of social work said there will be a baby boom in 1965.

Oh, Where Did You Get That Hat?

New Zealand's touring universities rugby team, which scored 196 points and yielded 26 in six unbeaten games against the best rugby clubs in California, arrived in Victoria last night ready for the final three games of the tour—against Victoria Crimson Tide here tomorrow and against UBC and B.C. Reps in Vancouver March 22 and 28.

Triple Lutz Wows 'Em

PRAGUE (UPI)—Donald Jackson of Canada won the men's singles title in the 1962 world figure skating championships last night with a program unparalleled in the history of the sport.

Jackson is the first Canadian to win the event. He was third in the 1960 Olympics and twice runner-up in two previous world championships.

His program was rather risky, Jackson said. "It was perhaps risky, but as a figure skater I am trying to develop the sport and I hate the idea of playing safe."

His display drew thunderous cheers from the 15,500 fans in the stadium. Some experts said that Jackson's triple lutz at the start of Recent snow and cold weather set back the fishing. Just like it did the gardens. . . and as soon as we get a few warm sunny days and a little rain both will forge ahead at top speed.

Most inland rivers are too low and too clear to provide good steelheading and cold weather sent the trout in the lakes scurrying for deep water. A few trout were rising at the weekend, and this weekend might provide some good trout fishing.

Cowichan River is the brightest spot on the fishing scene. On Saturday Bud Dunnett and partner landed four steelies and last about 10 others in the lower reaches, using Strawberry Spins and roe. "We saw lots of those small March run steelies and there were plenty of kelts in the river," Dunnett said.

Biggest catch of the week was a 7.15-pound brown trout landed near the picnic grounds in the Riverbottom area by Bob Bennett of Duncan on worn.

Tommy Moss and party landed 18 trout from above Skutz Falls, mostly rainbow up to four pounds. Mickey Sharp's pre-technique net landed his first steelie, a nine-pounder from lower reaches of the Cowichan. During ebb tides a few cut-throats and steelhead have been taken from the Cowichan to the Stone Church vicinity.

Quamichan Lake has been giving up a few trout to gang-trollers.

There are fish in the Kokalah, but the river has been too low and too clear to fish. The steelies have spooked easily. Frank Wagner reports good fishing in Taylor Arm of Spruce Lake and in the Taylor River where they have been taking them up to five pounds.

If you have a float plane Nahmint Lake has been giving up plenty of nine-pound rainbows.

It was showering in Port Renfrew area Thursday which might help the fishing. The rivers there are very low and there has been practically no fishing. Warm weather and a stronger or two will help the trout fishing in Dairy Lake and Lizard Lake, which was quite hot, especially in the Fairy.

Sooke River has been too low for fishing, but it is time to start looking for searun cutthroats at the mouths of all the coastal rivers.

On the saltwater scene there is the weekend anglers start looking for blueback off Claytons, and they should be there. Spring salmon fishing has been poor off Oak Bay, but the anglers who have been fishing for them have been having good luck with bluebacks up to two pounds. The Gap has been the productive spot with Tom Mack spoons and about four ounces of weight doing the trick.

We found the lackspings on Saturday between the Stone House and the White Lady, but we had to go deep—two pounds and 300 feet of wire line to get them. In about three hours in the afternoon we hooked seven and landed four, all in the two to three pound class.

Bluebacks were jumping all around us, all the way from Goldstream Island to the Stone House, but we couldn't get them to take anything. We tried spin-casting from the boat with small spoons and bucktails, but they didn't show the slightest interest. Some big springs are being caught around Goldstream Island and the Chesterfield with Bruce Lohr leading the parade last week with a 11-pounder and a 9.12-pounder with 100 feet of line and Minnow-Tearer.

Art Mawer and two partners limited with 24 springs and blues from Finlayson Arm, towards the Stone House.

The mouth of Tod Inlet in Brentwood Bay is still producing big springs with Bob Redgrave landing a 15.8-pounder and a 10.8-pounder on Saturday on minnow, 150 feet of line and plunger. Doug Dye picked up a 15.12, a 10.4, and a 5.8-pounder on Strip-Tearer yesterday between 6 and 8 a.m.

There has been a good school of jacksmacks in the thames, four and five-pound class off MacKenzie Bay.

Blues are reappearing in the middle of the Inlet from the White Lady to the Boulder and red and white bucktails have been getting them in the early morning.

Munday night's Victoria Fish and Game Club meeting will feature these films: Yukon Safari, which deals with big game hunting of goat, sheep, grizzly and moose, and some fishing; Delta to Brooklyn, which shows a museum party went to capture three young Dall sheep; Arrow For a Grizzly, about hunting in the north. It is recommended as an ideal father and son program.

Tran and sket shooting season will be kicked off Sunday at the Victoria Fish and Game Goldstream clubgrounds with both trap and sket shoots starting around noon. There will be a special black powder shoot, open to all shooters using black powder loads on shotguns with at least a "dog" vintage.

Volunteers are requested for a work party Sunday at the fish and game club's rifle and pistol range at Esquimalt Legion.

Brentwood Wins Title

Vern Benn scored 27 points last night as Brentwood beat Sooke, 46-29, to win their second BC Suburban Basketball League midweek boys' total-point playoff by one point.

Sooke had won the opener of the series, 40-34. Brentwood now goes to the B.C. tournament in Nanaimo.

Brentwood's pre-midweek girls also won their final by seven points from Sooke, although last night's second game ended in a 14-14 tie.

Hull Scores Two Goals Wings Suffer Setback

Boston Bruins ended a winless streak at 20 games last night, Toronto Maple Leafs had second place clinched for them and Detroit Red Wings blew a chance to the New York Rangers for the last playoff spot in the National Hockey League but the big hockey headline belongs to Bobby Hull.

The strapping 23-year-old Chicago winger, making a wild late-season bid to set a new goal record, scored twice in the second period in Montreal where the Canadiens got a power-play goal in the third period to beat the Black Hawks, 6-5.

Hull's goals, on blazing shots from 30 and 45 feet, were his 45th and 46th of the season—and his 30th and 31st in his last 26 games. He has five games left in which to get the five he needs to break the record of 50 goals in one season, set by Maurice Richard in the 1944-45 season and equaled last season by Bernie Geoffrion, also of the Canadiens.

ONLY THREE SHOTS The Hawks gave Hull almost twice normal ice time in the third period but the Canadiens marked him well, giving him only three shots, none of them particularly dangerous, at Jacques Plante.

Four of the remaining Chicago games are away from home—at Detroit, Toronto, Montreal and New York. The other is at home against Detroit.

Canadiens, apparently getting a bit worried about Toronto's late-season challenge to their first-place standing, opened up from the start and ran up a 3-0 lead in less than 13 minutes.

They were led by Dickie Moore, who was the best man on the ice and Jean Beliveau, who has come fast in recent games after getting over injuries and is now in top form.

Both scored twice with Moore getting the third-goal as there are only five games left in the season.

At Detroit, where the crowd was 9,216 fans as compared to the 15,200 who turned up at Montreal, Bruce Gamble scored his first shutout in 79 NHL games as the Bruins proved to the Red Wings they weren't to be taken lightly.

Ex-Wings played a prominent role in the Boston win, left. Hull had to stop 44 shots. Murray Oliver getting one goal and two assists and Johnny Bucyk scoring once and also setting up Oliver's goal.

Sweden Crushes British Club, 17-0

DENVER, Colo. (CP)—Title-bound Sweden piled up the biggest margin of the world hockey tournament by routing Britain 17-0 Thursday night for its fifth straight victory.

A crowd of only 1,906 saw the unbeaten Swedes move to the top of the standings in the championship division with 10 points, Canada and the United States, both upset by Sweden, are tied for second place, each with 4-1 won-lost records and eight points.

Both Canada and the U.S. had an open date Thursday.

Only Norway and West Germany now stand between the Swedes and the championship—but neither is in the same class with the strong Swedish national team.

Finland overwhelmed Germany, 9-3, after bursting with five goals in the last half of the second period.

In the consolation play Australia won its first game ever in international competition by a 6-3 score over Denmark, while France captured its third victory in four starts by the same score over The Netherlands.

Yankee Musclemen Helps Defeat Cincy

The world champion New York Yankees, powered by Mickey Mantle's three-run homer in the first inning, bombed Cincinnati's National League pennant-winning Reds 8-3 Thursday in the first exhibition baseball meeting between the 1961 world series opponents.

Yankees' triumph, fashioned at their Fort Lauderdale, Fla., base, extended their winning streak to six games as they remained the majors' only unbeaten team. The loss gave Reds a 1-5 record.

Mantle's homer was his second of the spring and Yankees' seventh. All six victories have been achieved by extra base hits, five through homers.

Five Take Big Look Ahead

City Students Pin Hopes to Teaching

Years of study lie ahead of five young Victoria students who hope to become school teachers.

They are only a few of the many students in this area who look forward to teaching professions, but their attitudes probably represent the feelings of many of the others.

Margaret Morgan, 17, 192 Bushby, a Grade 12 student at Victoria High School, says "If I can afford all the education, I'd like to specialize in high school mathematics."

She has saved up some money for tuition working weekends and during the summer months clearing tables at a local restaurant.

"I will have to get some scholarships, I hope," she confided. "I've been on the honor roll about every year."

Janet Fox, 17, 1248 Tattersall, a Grade 12 student at Mt. Douglas High School, wants to be an elementary school teacher. She has no brothers or sisters but says "I enjoy working with children."

Barry Warner, 17, 1245 Rockcrest, a Grade 12 student at Esquimalt High School, hopes to become a secondary school chemistry and geography teacher.

"I've wanted to be a teacher ever since Grade 3. I always looked up to teachers as leaders in the community," he said.

Valerie Mitchell, 17, 2255

Estevan, a Grade 12 student at Oak Bay High School, wants to be a Grade 4 elementary teacher because "I like working with that age group."

She has taught Grade 4 pupils during the summer in the Oak Bay playground program and believes "you can do a lot more with them than younger ones."

Charronne Douglas, 16, 1005 Ridgeway, a Grade 11 student at Mt. View High School, said she plays the piano and kettle drums and would like to be a music specialist.

"I like teaching. It appeals to me, and I always try to teach people something," she said.

Hazen Argue, who recently joined the Liberal party after defecting from the CCF-New Democratic Party group, was expected to be a candidate.

Ruckus Sequel

Ask No Quarter Says Woman MLA

The women members of the legislature beg no quarter in debates because they are women, Louis Haggren (NDP-CCF, Grand Forks-Greenwood) told the legislature last night.

TEARFUL DEBATE

Her statement came following a ruckus Wednesday night which saw Camille Mather (NDP-CCF, Delta) reduced to tears, and which involved Education Minister Peterson, Dan Campbell (SC, Comox) and Premier Bennett on government benches and Opposition leader Robert Strachan and dean of the House Arthur Turner (NDP-CCF, Vancouver-East) flying to defence of their woman member.

"We want to be treated as other members of the House," said Mrs. Haggren yesterday, but she took Mr. Campbell and Premier Bennett to task for their rudeness in a debate which she said could have been left to Mr. Peterson and Mrs. Mather.

'CHIPPED IN'

"I feel the premier added to the situation. He came in late and did not know what had taken place before, but he knew what side he was on, and chipped in," she chided.

"I see no reason for members making remarks just to develop abusive arguments," she scolded.

Sky Is Limit in Changes For Rural Area 'Face'

By ARCH MACKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislative machinery capable of changing rural Canada's face is on the move. How far and how fast it goes will depend on the exports and money federal and provincial governments can supply.

With sufficient resources, the sky is the limit in such broad areas as:

1. Alternative uses of land now classified as marginal or of low productivity.
2. Development of income and employment opportunities for farm areas.
3. Development and conservation of the country's soil and water resources.

NO FIRM TOOL

The instrument is the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act, approved by Parliament last May. Its language resembles a philosophic declaration rather than a firm legislative tool, hence the magnitude of its potential.

Details will be nailed down in individual agreements with the provinces now being drafted after initial consultation with each of the 10.

There are hopes actual projects may be under way by summer.

HARD BARGAINING

Some hard federal-provincial bargaining remains. The federal cabinet must decide just how much it will put up. The figure of $15,000,000 a year has been mentioned but this is not firm.

Scores of suggestions have been made, says ARDA director A. T. Davidson. The over-all reaction had been much better than anticipated.

LAND TO GRASS

Conversion of marginal western land to grass—essential for beef raising—is a common proposal. It is estimated there may be 20,000,000 acres suited to this purpose, including some in the Maritimes.

Conservation and development schemes ranging from simple dams to whole river basins are possible in the long run but expensive projects are unlikely at the outset.

More Get Pension

New Bill to Benefit Three Groups

A bill introduced in the legislature yesterday will place B.C. hospital workers under terms of the Municipal Superannuation Act.

The bill also includes all volunteer firemen and magistrates throughout British Columbia, and provides for portable pensions for various government and municipal agencies. It contains a special provision to safeguard the rights of Vancouver employees who will become federal civil servants when the international airport is sold.

Municipal employees who retired before 1957 will get an increase in pensions if municipalities are willing to put up half the cost.

Another bill to amend the Municipal Act provides for spouses of veterans buying under the Veterans' Land Act to vote as owner-electors on municipal matters.

Another section makes it possible for mayors or reeves to be paid salaries one-third more than that allowed in existing scales.

Municipality or community use of school sites is provided for in another section and another provides broader tax exemptions for emergency shelters.

A bill to amend the Placer Mining Act empowers the cabinet to prohibit a person from entering or prospecting upon any lands.

Grits Want Convention Postponed

REGINA (CP)—The executive of the Weyburn Young Liberals Association has asked for an indefinite postponement of the Assiniboia constituency Liberal nominating convention.

Hazen Argue, who recently joined the Liberal party after defecting from the CCF-New Democratic Party group, was expected to be a candidate.

RIDE ON DOMINION ROYAL TIRES

Mr. Hal Cotton hockey scout. Has keen eye for talent. Combats the country for players with the master touch. Needs a car that will stand up to 25,000 miles each year. He is a man who must have tires with "extra" performance.

The Master Touch

You can tell a master of the game by the way he performs when the heat's on. "So-so" players wilt under pressure. Same with tires. When the heat's on during hours of high-speed driving, Low Profile Dominion Royal Masters run cooler... last longer because they flex to a lesser degree.

You enjoy greater stability, easier steering. Premium quality Dominion Royal Masters give you premium mileage, traction and braking power. And elegant styling gives your car a "Gran Turismo" flair.

If your business or pleasure calls for extra long mileage or if you just want the safest, best looking tire you can buy—don't settle for less... give your car the "master touch"... buy

Unity Crisis

Labor In Peril

By ROBERT RICE
OTTAWA (CP) — A showdown is shaping up in the crucial jurisdictional conflict in Newfoundland between two of the most influential unions in the Canadian Labor Congress. A new test of labor unity exploded into the open Thursday after a CLC vice-presidential committee failed to get the 65,000-member Carpenters Brotherhood to accept a one-year ceasefire in its feud with the International Woodworkers of America over the right to represent Newfoundland loggers. Indications are the showdown will take place at next month's national CLC convention in Vancouver.

UNITY THREAT
If the jurisdictional scrap erupts on the convention floor—as it seems bound to now—it will face organized labor with a major threat to unity, perhaps the most serious threat since the CLC was formed in 1935.

The 35,000-member IWA, a major union power on the west coast, has charged the Carpenters Union with raiding its jurisdiction in the Newfoundland woods—an off-pace that carries the heaviest sanction labor can impose, suspension from the labor congress and possibly expulsion.

By rejecting the CLC peace plan, the Carpenters Union challenged the congress to rule on the validity of the IWA raiding charge, a decision stayed off so far by the congress.

"The IWA has charged us with raiding—and it's up to them to prove it," said Peter Terzick, international treasurer of the Carpenters Union.

LONG BEFORE
"We were in Newfoundland organizing loggers long before the IWA appeared there. If any raiding occurred in Newfoundland, it occurred when the IWA moved in after our pioneering efforts began to pay off."

The IWA called a bitter strike against a major Newfoundland pulp company in 1939—a strike marked by violence. The walk-out was broken when the provincial government passed a law barring the IWA from the island and setting up an independent union.

Liberals' New Look 'Old Hat'

WINNIPEG (CP)—New Democratic Party leader T. C. (Tommy) Douglas said in an interview Thursday that party defector Hazen Argue will run third in the constituency of Assiniboia at the federal election.

He also said:
1. That his guess for the federal election date was June 18.
2. That the Liberal party is "trying desperately" to "get itself a new look" by playing up party leader Lester Pearson's circle of advisors and playing down Mr. Pearson.

"NAME TEAM"
"They want us to look at the team. And look at it. It's either the old St. Laurent cabinet ministers or the men who advised them. It's the same old government trying to persuade us that they will do now what they refused to do for 20 years."

Mr. Douglas came to Winnipeg for the Winnipeg North Centre nomination meeting.

Economical Ad Plan Goes Ahead

TORONTO (CP)—More than 200 daily and weekly newspaper publishers have joined to provide advertisers and agencies with a more economical and convenient method of placing advertising. It was announced yesterday.

With the formation of Canadian Community Newspapers Representatives, advertisers or agencies may place any number of ads across Canada with one order and make payment for them all with one cheque. A target date of April 1 has been set for the start of operations.

K. J. (Pete) Hastings, Toronto public relations counsel, has been named general manager of the new organization.

Vancouver May Get Cheaper Power Yet

Because early contract prices for development work for the Peace River power project have been below what was expected, the government is now hopeful of delivering less than four-mill power to the Vancouver area. Instead of somewhat over four-mill power, Premier Bennett told the legislature last night.

Something New and wonderful has happened to rum drinks!

MARACA RUM

One taste will tell you why MARACA is the news of the year in finer, smoother rum! Sun-mellow and distinctively dry — MARACA RUM adds a touch of tropical magic to every rum drink. Try the two delicious varieties — MARACA White Label and MARACA Black Label.

Bennett Tries Again

Ottawa Silent On Ship Subsidy

OTTAWA still hasn't advised B.C. whether the 40 per cent federal shipbuilding subsidy will apply to the construction of B.C. government ferries, Premier Bennett said yesterday.

He has told the ferry authority to write again to federal authorities asking for a decision.

TWO NEW SHIPS
It granted the subsidy would apply to the construction of the Mv. City of Victoria and Mv. City of Vancouver as well as the two new ships to be built by Victoria Machinery Depot.

Premier Bennett requested the subsidy some time ago.

BEING CONSIDERED
He was subsequently advised that the matter was being considered by the federal treasury board and a decision would be made shortly. No further word has been received.

He made the statement when he said the government will accept a motion from Liberal leader Ray Perrault asking that copies of all contracts let by the B.C. Electric for development work on the Peace River be filed in the House.

NOT AGREEABLE
But, the government wasn't so agreeable to other resolutions on the order paper. Speaker Hugh Shantz was upheld by majority vote when he ruled out of order a request from Harry McKay (L.-P.) that consideration be given to the granting of an annual monetary grant to Notre Dame College at Nelson.

Sacred members voted solidly against Liberal leader Perrault's move to have a special committee appointed to inquire into the subject of highway safety.

SPEED LIMITS
Mr. Perrault suggested the subject of speed limits, safety belts and highway engineering standards be subject of study. Highway Minister Gagliardi, who hasn't got a particularly clean driving record, was the most bitter opponent on the grounds that any such committee would be redundant because there is already a fine staff of experts doing the same job.

ALREADY THERE
Attorney-General Bonner said there already is an inter-departmental committee of highway officials, RCMP and attorney-general's office officials which consistently examines the causes of accidents.

Burglar Takes $40 from Suite

Forty dollars was taken from a bank book inside a drawer by a burglar who entered the apartment of Mrs. P. J. Thorneycroft, Suite 7, 1305 Morrison Street, overnight Wednesday.

Thieves forced a door and ransacked the house of P. C. Ferguson, 2545 Lansdowne, apparently without taking anything, Oak Bay police reported.

Prisoner Program Planned

A unique prisoner rehabilitation program is being planned at a British Columbia forest service research station about 100 miles east of Prince George.

But just when it will be opened has not been determined.

The plans for the camp are described in the 1960-61 report of the director of corrections, which recommends it be opened as early as possible to help relieve crowding in the Prince George jail.

NEW CAMP

However, Attorney-General Bonner told the legislature earlier the government is considering establishing a new forest camp this year either near Prince George or on Vancouver Island, with that on Vancouver Island the more likely one to go ahead.

When the camp is opened it will be jointly operated by the attorney-general's department and the department of lands and forests. A similar camp operates in conjunction with Oakalla prison farm and is located near Chilliwack.

FROM JAIL

Prisoners who are minimum security risks would be transferred from the Prince George jail to the camp at Alexa Lake, where the forest service operates a large nursery. They would be housed in buildings near the site and would be required to work on the nursery.

$25,000 Pledged

St. Joseph's Hospital building fund drive was boosted yesterday by $25,000, pledged by the hospital's women's auxiliary from funds raised over the past two years from teas and banquets. The pledge was presented to Lieutenant-Governor George Fries, patron of the campaign, at Government House Thursday. With the lieutenant-governor are G. Fitzpatrick, D.S.A., general chairman of the hospital fund; Mrs. P. W. Semmich, president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. A. W. Bodra, first vice-president. (Byron Brown photo.)

Teddy Leaves Hearts Empty

DUNCAN — Over a week ago Teddy, a large heavy-coated collie dog, his master's eyes and his master's ears, disappeared from the Cherry Point area and left emptiness in the house and hearts of Billy Stevens and his hard-of-hearing housekeeper.

INJURY FEARED

He showed great understanding and on one occasion he picked up his master's thick-limbed glasses and brought them to his bedside. Teddy is not only intelligent but sincerely loved by his people who fear the dog has been injured or was trapped.

PLEASE PHONE

As a little pup Teddy came with them from Ontario. Many times the eight-year-old collie with three white paws and a white tip on his tail has found his way home from miles away.

Anyone seeing a collie of the above description is asked to phone Mrs. E. Bottomley at Cobble Hill 121Y3.

Challenge To Duel In Quebec

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—A Liberal member of the provincial legislature yesterday virtually challenged Union Nationale opposition leader Daniel Johnson to a duel with firearms to "clear my honor."

"We shall settle this matter with firearms," Jean-Claude Floude told Mr. Johnson, who had said earlier that Mr. Floude was "closely connected" with a controversial $300,000,000 promotion for a sulphur conversion plant.

"I shall leave the choice of arms to the members of the press gallery," Mr. Johnson said.

Woman Cut On Head In Car Crash

Elizabeth Haugen, 1148 Clark, was treated for severe head cuts last night after a two-car crash on the Patricia Bay Highway at Keating Cross Road.

Police said her car, driven north on the highway and turning left onto Keating Cross Road, was struck by a southbound car driven by Douglas Hamilton of Nanaimo. Both cars were heavily damaged.

Loggers Hold Vain Meeting

MESACHIE LAKE—Hillcrest Lumber Company and IWA officials met yesterday for the second time in the hope of finding a solution in a dispute over free transportation from Duncan and Lake Cowichan areas to Mesachie Lake.

The dispute has idled some 70 loggers since Jan. 2.

Spokesmen for both camps stated after the brief meeting no promise for a settlement was revealed.

Company officials said they did not know why the union representatives came, "for the union must be aware of the company's intention not to institute the free transportation."

Yesterday's and the first meeting at the beginning of this month had been arranged by the Local 1-80 IWA.

Union officials stated the loggers involved are as determined to have the free transportation back as they were when the dispute began. While the company's loss from the dispute is incalculable, idling loggers' loss was estimated at almost $100,000 in pay.

St. Francis Movie Approved

NANAIMO—Officials of the Roman Catholic Church have been given a special preview of a controversial film based on the life of St. Francis of Assisi.

STAND BOUGHT

Theatre manager Mel Gow said the film has created much controversy, and he wanted local church officials to take a stand on the picture.

NO OBJECTION

Francis of Assisi is a Hollywood production.

Mr. Gow said he would like to show the film in Nanaimo next week.

Following the preview, local church officials said they had no objection to the film.

Monsignor A. G. Baker said he approved the picture, and Sister Superior Mary Ellen said she enjoyed the film.

Fighting Shoplifter Draws Six Months After Battle

A shoplifter who fought a policeman was sentenced to six months in jail yesterday.

Ernest Lageri, no fixed address, pleaded guilty before Magistrate William Ostler in city police court to charges of stealing a $20 sweater from Hudson's Bay Co. and resisting arrest.

UNDER JACKET

Harry Mills, Hudson's Bay store detective, told of stopping Lageri at the Douglas Street entrance of the store at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Lageri had the sweater under his jacket.

Said city Const. John Burdyny, who arrived to arrest Lageri:

"The accused used very profane language, and said no one was going to take him in. He took a swing at me. I ducked, he struck me in the neck. There was a struggle of about five minutes in the middle of the road."

About 50 people were watching. "He said I'm going to kill you, you so-and-so, before you take me in."

TWO AND FOUR

The magistrate sentenced Lageri to two months on the theft charge, four months on the charge of resisting arrest.

Ex-Teacher Tells Commons:

Vocational Scheme Wild Spending Spree

OTTAWA (CP) — A former school teacher described the government's new vocational training plan Thursday as "one of the most fantastically misdirected programs ever conceived on the North American continent."

Walter Pitman, who taught high school at Peterborough, Ont., before winning his Commons seat in a 1960 byelection, said the plan has dissolved into a "wild spending spree" entirely unrelated to need.

The New Democratic Party MP for Peterborough spoke as the Commons debated a supplementary appropriation for the labor department of $28,400,000 for additional financing of vocational training aid.

PAY 15 PER CENT

Under the plan, initiated last year, Ottawa pays 75 per cent of the cost for new vocational training facilities undertaken by the provinces. So far the government has committed itself to $175,000,000 in such assistance.

Bacon, Egg Strikers Fired

VANCOUVER (CP) — The captain of a British freighter said here Thursday night 15 Spanish and Greek seamen staging a hunger strike will leave the ship even if he has to throw them off himself.

The seamen, who have been on strike for six days in support of demands for a Spanish cook, were fired earlier Thursday. They objected to English-style cooking and refused to eat bacon and eggs for breakfast.

Asked Thursday how the strikers would leave the 10,000-ton Bannervale, the master, Murdo Macleod, said:

"I'm a strong Scotsman.

They'll leave, even if I have to throw them off myself."

Earlier the captain and several officers threatened to quit the vessel unless the hunger strikers were fired. Decision to fire the strikers—16 Spaniards and two Greeks—was taken after E. C. Milne, representing the Banner Shipping Company, flew from London to investigate the situation.

will be shipped to their homes." The Spaniards were signed on in the Canary Islands.

Earlier the strikers picketed the ship and members of the Longshoremen's Union stopped loading her grain cargo for Communist China. Members of the Bannermakers Union, working in the vessel, walked off.

"It may take a day or two. It is not yet decided how they will be replaced or how they

Two Collisions

'Friend' Hijacks Car and Driver Threatens to Kill

Called to an accident on Esquimalt Road last night, city police found it was really two accidents and no accident at all.

At Esquimalt and Catherine, city traffic Constables Murray MacArthur and Richard Ward were given this report by Allan R. Boyd, 355 Richmond.

He'd been sitting in his car, parked on Yates below Douglas, when a man he'd known in the navy came along and forced his way into Boyd's car. Boyd drove him around by the police station on Piggard Street.

There the unwanted passenger threatened to kill Boyd if he didn't drive him out to HMCS Naden.

Crossing Johnson Street bridge, the passenger stepped on the gas pedal, causing Boyd's car to hit the rear of a car driven in the same direction by Max Schoenfeldt, 115 Collinson.

Boyd's car kept on its way, with Boyd trying to get control of both the car and his passenger.

Explosives Charge

Seaman Acquitted After Legal Duel

A 2½-hour lawyers' duel in city police court yesterday ended with the acquittal of Ivan Keyes, unemployed seaman from Vancouver, on a charge of unlawfully possessing explosives.

Magistrate William Oster set Keyes free on grounds that he had already been tried for the same offence.

Smith had been released March 9, after the magistrate had found the charge against him to be defective. It was held under an old section of the Criminal Code which had since been amended. Seven hours later, he was re-arrested on an amended charge.

The old section of the Code had contained the word "knowingly." In the amended section, this word was replaced "without lawful excuse."

Keyes, arrested outside a city beer parlor with a bottle of nitro-glycerin and several blasting caps in his pocket, said he had found them in a washroom, and did not know what they were.

It was not until the case was complete that the magistrate found the defect in the charge.

Keyes watched silently through the long technical argument.

Way Clear For Park At Lake

A cabinet order-in-council has paved the way for establishment of a new lake park in the Victoria area.

It approves sale by Victoria of Tholth Lake property for a B.C. Electric power line right-of-way for $5,200 plus 250 acres in the Durrance Lake area.

This exchange of property will make it possible for development of Durrance Lake, considered one of the better trout fishing lakes in the area, as a park.

Wilson's Stand Unknown

Pruning of Budget Tough Job If Mill-Rate to Stay Same

By TED SHACKLEFORD
Perhaps the toughest fight in its 140-year history faces city council late this month when the annual budget-pruning session will begin.

Only about half of the departmental budgets have been completed—some higher than last year, some lower—but aldermen are already doubtful about holding the mill rate to last year's level of $3.4 mills.

That level was achieved in 1961 only by ruthless pruning of the budget. Even so, it still represented an increase of 63 mills over the previous year.

Warning signs on the city's financial horizon include:

- A drop of some $2,200, 320 in taxable assessments.
- An increase of about five per cent in the Greater Victoria school board's budget to $5,700,845.
- The $100,000 program the city started this year to improve depressed areas of Victoria.

- A carry-over of works from last year's heavy budget pruning.
- Plans to build a new $70,000 firehall at the intersection of John and Turner Streets, near the Point Ellice Bridge, to replace the No. 2 firehall at Douglas and Burnside.

- Wage increase being sought vigorously by city hall employees who won little or no increase last year.

- The $30,000 already committed to pay costs of the city's centennial celebrations.

- Planned construction of a $60,000 juvenile detention home on an interim basis.

- Some $12,000 which is the city's share of a Greater Victoria traffic study proposed by the Capital Region Planning Board.

The 1961 mill rate was achieved only after council had chopped $428,534 from the budget and the provincial government provided an unexpected $85,000 shot in the arm with a new formula for sharing federal school grants.

Carry-overs from last year will include $16,750 for street lighting on Cook and Burnside which was chopped on the understanding it would have priority this year, and parks department works.

The parks budget suffered badly last year with two chops—$15,000 the first time and $25,000 when alderman became desperate.

Unknown quantity in this year's budget debate is Mayor R. E. Wilson. Some city officials feel he is not likely to stop important projects for the sole reason of keeping the mill rate down.

City committees will begin a series of meetings March 20 to go through their budgets.

Meeting Set Tuesday
A public meeting of the Victoria British Israel Association will be held Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in Neerstead Hall, 134 Fort. Speaker will be C. Gladwin, Dominion president of the Canadian British Israel Association.

Tickets To Fair Sold Out

Hordes of Victorians who waited to the last minute to buy their Century 21 World's Fair advance tickets wound up disappointed.

A spokesman for T. Eaton Co., sales agents for the fair, reported they were sold right out several days before the March 15 deadline for advance sales.

LOT MORE
"We could have sold a lot more if we had had them," he reported.

The Victoria store tried to supplement its stock from Vancouver, but was turned down.

Advance sales opened in January, with $10 books of tickets offered for $6.50 and $2 single admissions selling for $1.20. Buyers received a further discount if they bought in large quantities.

Eaton's here drew 200 to 300 tickets when sales opened, replenishing their stock from time to time as the demand increased.

Travel HQ Busy

Buzz Begins For Beds

By TED PULFORD

Phones are jumping in Vancouver Island's Centennial-Century 21 Accommodation Centre—even before carpenters have finished building the desks.

The centre, located in the Black Ball Building, has already handled these queries:

A man in Winchell-on-Sea, Essex, is bringing his family from England this summer and wants accommodation for two months.

VICTORIA FIRST
A Kingston, Ont., couple are heading for the World's Fair in Seattle early in May and want to visit Victoria first.

A man from Geneva, Ill., is planning to spend a week in the Empress Hotel.

A sprinkling of Texans and a family from Monte Blanco, Mexico, have expressed the same desire.

When accommodation centre coordinator Ian McCaul gets his bureau rolling in high gear early next month, reservations will go streaming through 12 telephones, a teletype and a private telephone line direct to Seattle at the rate of one a minute.

FOURING IN
Vital statistical information from all of the hotels, motels and resorts on the Island—some 500 establishments in all—is already pouring into the centre for correlation on a massive master-filing system.

Average time for taking a reservation request on the telephone and reporting back to the customer will be less than three minutes.

The coordinator believes it will develop into a permanent feature of local tourist service.

Bennett's Chat Restores Goodwill After Wet Spell

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

A few of the many sides of Premier Bennett ... of around and around he goes and where he stops nobody knows!

LOVE'S LABOUR'S LOST:
Premier Bennett crossed the floor again yesterday—but only for five minutes!

"I'm going to sit with Camille," he whispered to a reporter.

Camille, of course, was Mrs. Camille Bennett (NDP-CCF-Delta) who cried in the legislature the evening before after the government had tipped its hat to her for daring to criticize Jericho School for the deaf.

The premier made his apologies, chatted for a few minutes, stopped off for a brief few words with Harry McKay (L...Furrie), 355—then he crossed the floor to take his seat and listen to the debate on Labor Minister Leslie Peterson's estimates.

PASSING PARADE: After the mayors and reveries met Premier Bennett to discuss the B.C. Electric bus system yesterday a reporter asked him what sort of meeting it had been.

"I can't say," he replied. "The mayors will make a statement."

"Was it a happy meeting?" he was asked.

"Just say that afterwards," smiled, said the premier.

"You're always smiling," growled the newsmen.

"That's right, my friend," chuckled the smiling premier as he logged off down the corridor. "I've been smiling all session ... the whole session ... nothing but good will."

Everyone knows he's off to Ottawa this weekend for discussions on power with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and Federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming.

Nothing too mysterious about that.

So Premier Bennett is generating his own mystery.

He hasn't yet decided, on whether he'll travel by the Canadian route or the American route.

It all depends on whom he decides to see on the way.

RELIABLE SOURCE: The rumors that Attorney-General Robert Bennett was about to leave the cabinet intrigued Premier Bennett—mainly because he couldn't understand how reporters got hold of such information.

Yesterday he looked up from his seat and caught the eye of the press gallery members.

Slowly the premier cranked the imaginary handle of an imaginary rumor mill.

"What's new today?" he mouthed.

UPS AND DOWNS: When a debate begins to wax hot in the legislature Premier Bennett makes like a yo-yo, constantly jumping up and down as he throws some more verbal gasoline into the fire.

Yesterday, during a debate on highway safety, a point was being made by David Barrett (NDP-CCF—Dendrey).

"Have you got safety belts in your car?" asked the premier.

"You should have them in your seat," shouted John Lapointe (NDP-CCF—Alberni), just as the premier sat down again.

"Even a seat belt wouldn't help," interrupted Ross Harding (NDP-CCF—Kaslo-Sooke).

City Fathers Scratch Head:

Victoria Day at Seattle Fair Is Victoria Day Here, Too

A Century 21 pleasantries extended to Victoria has been arranged.

World's fair officials announced yesterday that May 21 would be Victoria Day at the fair.

READING PARTY

The announcement was made in a letter of well-being at Vancouver when Washington State Lieutenant-Governor John Chaberg, heading a party of 185 fair boosters, visited that city.

He said B.C. would receive much direct benefits from the Seattle world's fair, because many of the estimated 7,500,000 fair visitors will make side trips into B.C.

VICTORIA DAY

He then issued a proclamation declaring May 21 Vancouver and Victoria day at the fair.

Victorians view the proclamation with mixed emotions.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell's mixture was heavily laced with anguish.

"That will clash with our celebrations," he said. "We want to have our people here for Victoria Day."

He agreed there would be a "lot of merit" in asking Seattle fair officials to try and give Victoria another Victoria day.

Some city representation could be present.

The acting mayor felt some "interested group or party" should approach fair planners with the suggestion, rather than have the request come through "official channels."

Charity Donations
Should the city donate taxpayers' money to charities which also make direct appeals to taxpayers for donations?

This question was posed yesterday by Ald. J. L. W. McLean during a meeting of city finance committee.

"I just can't see in principle why we should make a grant out of city funds to any organization that makes a direct appeal to all the citizens," he said.

"It is just making the same people to pay twice in different ways."

Ald. Arthur Dowell said that was the reason council could not contribute to the Community Chest appeal.

"This is a very, very wide subject because we contribute to the university appeal, to the Royal Jubilee Hospital appeal and in addition to that we give grants to the YMCA and people like that, each year and yet they are in the Community Chest," Ald. Austin Curtis said.

City council allows $25,000 each year in its budget to cover donations to charities.

City manager C. C. Wyatt was asked to find out what other cities do over grants.

Mild and mellow Edam or Gouda is responsible for the smooth, delicious filling of this cheese pie. It's baked in a caraway-flavored pastry shell

Cheese Pie with Caraway Pastry For a Light Luncheon or Supper

HOLLAND CHEESE PIE

Two cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup firm butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon caraway seeds, 1/2 cup ice water, 3 tablespoons dry bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese, 1/2 cup finely diced cooked ham or shrimp, 1/2 pound Dutch Edam or Gouda cheese, shredded (2 cups), 2 whole eggs, 2 egg yolks, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne pepper, 1 1/2 cups light cream or milk, scalded, chopped parsley, grated Parmesan cheese.

For pastry, sift flour and salt into a bowl. Cut butter into small pieces and add to flour mixture. With pastry blender or two knives, cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Mix in caraway seeds. If mixture is sticky, chill 10 minutes. Sprinkle water, a tablespoon at a time, over mixture, tossing quickly with a fork until particles stick together.

form a dough. Turn out on floured board. Knead lightly four to six times, then shape into a smooth ball. Wrap in foil or waxed paper. Chill 10 minutes. On lightly floured board, roll dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Line a 10-inch flaring (or pie plate). Prick bottom. Line inside with a moistened piece of waxed paper. Fill with raw rice, peas or lentils to weight pastry during baking. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Remove paper and rice. Return to oven and bake another 10 minutes. Remove from oven; reduce oven temperature to 250 degrees F.

For filling, sprinkle pastry shell with bread crumbs and the 1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese. Top with an even layer of ham (or shrimp) and cheese. Blend whole eggs, egg yolks, mustard, salt and pepper with a fork. Gradually stir in warm milk. Carefully spoon into pastry shell. Bake at 300 degrees F. for 30 to 45 minutes, or until custard is set. Let cool 5 minutes. Sprinkle top with chopped parsley and grated Parmesan.

We all know a little care in the washing and drying of fine wool sweaters and other Woolens is well worth the time and effort involved. However, you can speed the drying and shaping of sweaters or other knit wools if you place them between two bath towels on the kitchen table and press out the excess moisture with a rolling pin. To dry mitts and gloves, try using a window screen as a drying surface, perhaps set up across the wash tub so the air circulates through the wool. If you want to pin the mitts to size, they will be easy to do through the screen. Children's knitted hats can be dried back to shape if they're stretched over a plate and placed on a towel to dry.

I once found myself short on wire sock dryers so I made substitutes by fashioning wire coat hangers to the proper shape. They're still in use, too. Perhaps you have some more ideas. I'd certainly like to hear about them.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Your letter from Star Gazer probably scored a direct hit on at least one million American homes. Mine was one of them.

I like Jim's wife, Ann, and I like her going on. But I DO know, and what's more I have known for three years. Often in your column, Ann, someone asks if she should tell as friend, "an act of kindness" that her husband is running around. You always say "No. Carrying information is not an act of kindness. Mind your own business." I thank you for this advice, Ann. Almost every wife knows—unless she is an imbecile.

At first when I saw them at their hiding place, I was numb from the shock. Then the hurt and humiliation set in. After crying my heart out for weeks I decided for the sake of my sanity, I had to make a tremendous decision. I could confront my husband with the choice (and risk breaking up our home and depriving three children of their father) or I could swallow my pride, play dumb and blind, and hope the affair would wear itself out.

I know in my heart that I made the right decision. I am living up to my responsibilities even if my husband is not. The point of this letter is to let you know that just because a wife doesn't wear her heartache on her sleeve, and go around town with swollen eyes, doesn't mean she is being fooled. It often means that she has great courage and that she has decided to put first things first.—AWAKE.

Dear Anne: I receive dozens of letters from readers who have said essentially the same thing, and I have great admiration for all of you.

The letters, strangely enough, were not all from women. Some husbands wrote to say that they had chosen to play the ostrich. A high-school teacher from Memphis said, "How does a father tell his children that their mother is stepping around with a family friend? Now I know the true meaning of the phrase 'discretion is the greater part of valor'."

Dear Ann Landers: My brother's widow moved back to this city and has taken a house about 10 minutes from us.

Mabel has an uncanny knack for dropping in on me just as I am leaving to go to the market, the hairdresser or to some neighborhood stand. I always invite her to ride along but she refuses saying she'd prefer to wait in the house. I always thought this was a little strange and now I know why. My young son was at home the last time she "waited" for me and she was unaware that he was there. He told me later that Aunt Mabel went through all our bureau drawers, that she tried on my hats and shoes and read the mail on my desk.

I resent her intrusions more than words can express. In fact, I am, merged. What should I do about this in the future? —AWKWARD POSITION.

Dear Anne: Simply tell Mabel that you refuse to leave her in the house alone while you do errands because it makes you feel like a poor hostess. Then insist that she ride along.

Sidney Wedding

An heirloom locket, worn by her great-grandmother on her wedding day was worn as her only jewelry by Miss Linda McDonald for her wedding to Mr. Jack Digby Turner, recently in St. Andrew's Church, Sidney.

Spring flowers and white satin bows decorated the church for the double-ring ceremony performed by Canon F. Vaughan-Birch. Wedding music was played by R. Boutilier, and during the signing of the register, "The Wedding Prayer" was sung by Cathie Jones.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. McDonald of 9697 Fourth Street, Sidney, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Ethel Turner and the late W. P. Turner of West Saanich Road.

BOUFFANT GOWN

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and for her wedding chose a gown of white net and lace, accented with mother-of-pearl sequins. Poised over a hooped and ruffled crinoline, the bouffant skirt was a billow of net ruffles at the back, and accented with lace and sequin appliques at the front. Lace formed the long sleeves and fitted bodice, with a square scalloped neckline and basque waist. The lace extended over the skirt in an apron and panel effect. Her waist-length veil of silk illusion net was held by a tiny circlet of satin flowers, with a large net and satin flower placed low on the forehead. Her bouquet was a beautiful and unusual combination of white baby roses and tangerine carnations.

IN TURQUOISE

Maid-of-honor was Miss Carol Eagles of Sidney, with Mrs. L. Richardson as brides-matron and Miss Janice Kimmery as junior bridesmaid. The three attendants were gowned alike in a deep vivid shade of turquoise chiffon, styled with deep rounded necklines, tiny draped sleeves and soft bouffant skirts falling from deep gathered cummerbunds. Their headresses were narrow stiff circlets of white satin with birdcage veils, and they carried white carnations in crescent bouquets for the senior attendants and colonial style for Miss Kimmery.

RECEPTION

Mr. Charles Johnson of Saanichton attended the groom as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Robert McLeod of Victoria, Mr. David Marshall of Sidney and Mr. Robert McDonald, brother of the bride. Master of ceremonies for the reception at Sanscha Hall was Mr. Reid Hannan. Mr. John Thompson of Vancouver proposed the toast to the bride. Music for dancing was supplied by Mr. Bev Gore-Langton on the organ and Mr. Norman Wright on drums. For a motor trip to California, the pretty bride changed to a boxy suit of heavy textured cotton in a glen check plaid of chocolate and cream. Brown accessories and a white straw hat completed her costume, accented with a carnation corsage. On their return, the young couple will live at Garden Park Court, Lovatt Avenue, Victoria.

WEDDING GUESTS

Out of town guests included: Mrs. Dorothy McDonald, Mrs. Annie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Minnie Ashman, Mr. and Mrs. Don McPherson, Sydney Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bernauer, Douglas Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Willis, Miss Norma Willis, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall all of Vancouver; Ft. Cadet Michael Sparks of Moose Jaw, Sask.; Miss Patricia Armstrong, Abbotsford; Jack McDonald, Seattle; and Mr. and Mrs. A. Kleven and Mr. and Mrs. R. Rosendale of Mesachie Lake, B.C.

The pretty and charming bride is Mrs. J. E. McGee, the former Miss Donna McNeill, daughter of Mrs. Guy McNeill of Victoria and the late Mr. McNeill. She exchanged wedding vows with Sub-Lt. John Ernest McGee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest

R. McGee of Guelph, Ont., in a ceremony in St. Mary's Anglican Church recently. Sub-Lt. and Mrs. McGee are now living in Dartmouth, N.S., where the groom is serving at HMCS Shearwater Naval Air Base.

PERSONAL MENTION

Victorians planning to attend the 14th annual conference of Insurance Agents Association of B.C. in Vancouver Monday and Tuesday will be Mr. and Mrs. H. P. R. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellington, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Vincent and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clerk.

Mr. Brown is honorary treasurer of the association. More than 400 people are expected to attend the two-day conference. Wives of delegates will have a full program of events, including a tour of the University of British Columbia, a fashion show and tea, and the annual association dinner dance at the Hotel Vancouver.

Home from Honolulu

Major E. King and Mrs. King recently returned to their Dunley Street home after a two-month holiday in Honolulu where they stayed at the Hawaiian Ebbtide Hotel.

For Miss Perree

A miscellaneous shower was held recently at the Sooke Road home of Miss Desirée Mennie. Cornucopias of red and white carnations were presented to bride-elect Miss Judith Georgina Perree and her mother, Mrs. G. Perree. A decorated miniature ship held the gifts. Guests were: Mrs. H. Alexander, Mrs. E. R. Mennie, Mrs. C. Crear, Mrs. A. Plachner, Mrs. D. MacFarlane, Mrs. J. Leveridge, Miss Sheila Hall, Miss Judith Ann McEwen, Miss Patricia Creighton and Miss Judy Rutledge.

Hawaiian Dinner Party

Miss Grace Hay, Mrs. Jean MacDonald and Mrs. Muriel Buttrey were presented with orchid corsages at an Hawaiian dinner party at the home of Miss Anna Neilson, 1370 Thurlow Street recently. The three guests of honor leave Monday from Vancouver on the P & O-Orient liner, S. Orleans, for a holiday in Hawaii. They will be joined in Vancouver by Miss Joyce Stewart.

The travellers were also honored recently at a party at the home of Mrs. Lyle Newton, 2676 Foul Bay Road.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hall, 1368 Craigdarroch Road, announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Susan Edith, to Mr. James Gordon Lugadin, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Lugadin of Brantford, Ont. The wedding will take place in June.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hilder, Deep Cove, will celebrate their golden anniversary this Sunday, March 18, with an open house in St. John's Hall, West Saanich Road, Deep Cove, from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

MOTHERS' UNION

The council of Mothers' Union will meet Monday, March 19, at 8:15 p.m. in St. Mary's Church, Hall, Elgin Road.

United Church Ceremony

Three attendants of red French velvet preceded a charming bride, Miss Sharon Louise Douglas, up the aisle of Metropolitan United Church for her wedding recently to Mr. Maurice Ivan Pilotte.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Douglas, 1212 Hillside Avenue, was gowned in nylon sheer over taffeta fashioned with scoop neckline and lily-point sleeves, floor-length skirt. Embroidery accented the skirt and bodice. A dainty crown of seed pearls in leaf design held the silk illusion veil. Rosebuds were in her cascade bouquet.

Matron of honor was Mrs. R. Lemire, bridesmatron, Mrs. R. Grivel, and bridesmaid, Miss Jill Jewsbury carried bouquets of white carnations.

The groom, son of Mrs. P. Pilotte, Frances Street, had his best man, and Mr. Robert Grivel and Mr. Ronald Ashby, cousin of the bride, as ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Pilotte will make their home at 1125 Hillside Avenue.

Among guests at the wedding and reception were Mrs. W. Dunbar and Mrs. R. Coles of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lacharity, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ashby, Beverly, Karen and Ronald Ashby, all of Alberni.

Cancer Test Results 'Impressive': Incidence of Disease in B.C. Less

By PHYLLIS GRIFFITHS

British Columbia's government-subsidized mass screening of women to discover early cancer of the cervix is "very impressive"—and in Ontario excellent results through the same simple test are being achieved on a non-government basis.

Dr. W. G. Cosbie, medical director of the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation, made these statements in comment on a magazine article.

The article, in the current Maclean's, says the incidence of advanced cancer of the cervix (neck of the uterus, or womb) among B.C. women dropped from 28.4 per 100,000 in 1957 from 1955 to 1960 while the rate among women in other provinces stayed constant or even went up.

NO FIGURES

Ontario cancer authorities take issue with this last statement. They say no figures are available on which it could be based.

Only a controlled study like B.C.'s, with all doctors reporting cases, can show incidence—that is, how many cases among how many women.

Ontario and other provinces haven't this information—but in the last 15 years Ontario's death rate for cancer of the uterus has dropped 30 per cent.

"We also know that the number of women coming under early treatment of cancer of the cervix has increased tremendously in the last few years," said Dr. Cosbie.

ALMOST CERTAIN

Early treatment brings almost certain cure. Otherwise it is curable in only 50 per cent of cases.

A study carried out at the Princess Margaret Hospital here shows that 60 per cent of cases now treated are early ones. Until recent years the ratio was reversed, with 60 per cent of cases far advanced when seen.

Increasing use of a test that reveals cancer possibility up to ten years before it may develop gets the credit.

For the test a smear—material from the cervix placed on a slide—is sent to a pathological laboratory for examination.

Cell changes that foreshadow cervical cancer show up under microscope.

Doctors estimate that, without treatment, cancer would develop in half these suspicious cases.

Cancer of the cervix occurs most in married women and especially among women who marry young and have large families.

It killed 615 women in Canada last year.

POPULATION B.C.'s mass program, its goal from the testing of the province's entire female population, is headed by Dr. Herbert K. Fidler, chief of pathology

GUIDES, BROWNIES Colquitz, Tillicum and Gorge View Guides and Brownies will hold a tea and bazaar Saturday, March 17, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church Hall on Obed Avenue. Proceeds will go to the Kingwood camp site. A special attraction will be a baking contest by Girl Guides.

Mr. and Mrs. Pilotte will make their home at 1125 Hillside Avenue.

Among guests at the wedding and reception were Mrs. W. Dunbar and Mrs. R. Coles of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lacharity, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ashby, Beverly, Karen and Ronald Ashby, all of Alberni.

at Vancouver General Hospital.

His pilot study in 1949 began with a $12,000 grant from the B.C. Division of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Subsequent equal grants from the provincial and federal governments (totalling $100,000 last year) enabled the B.C. Cancer Foundation to build a central cytology laboratory for free examination of cervical smears sent by doctors.

(Cytology is the study of individual cells.)

Last year the lab processed 92,746 smears, uncovered 216 cases with suspicion of cancer.

Since 1949 nearly half B.C.'s 470,000 women have been tested, with 1,500 potential cases discovered.

B.C.'s 1,300 doctors take smears from the cervix in every medical check-up for the central lab.

GENERAL

A spokesman for the Ontario Cancer Foundation commended this procedure and said it was gradually becoming general here—except that the smears are sent by individual doctors to various pathology labs and cost about $5. The test is already routine in pre-natal cases.

Those who can't afford the tests can have them free through out-patient clinics. The spokesman said Ontario doctors are alert to the ease and value of the test and women, with increased knowledge of body functions, more frequently consult their doctor about anything out of the ordinary.

Vocational Courses Not Dead End

Education Minister Leslie Peterson gave the assurance Wednesday night that students put into vocational courses will be able to transfer back into the academic stream in B.C. schools.

"You have nothing to fear as far as vocational training is concerned. It's more a case of inclination than of not succeeding in one and going into another."

Sometimes students needed a change to find their true educational motives. In the past this had sometimes meant taking a job and leaving school, but now the vocational classes might have the same effect, he said.

CLEANED KITTY'S PAWS

Ever since George Burns discovered Ann-Margret, her career has been zooming. This teen-age beauty believes that naturalness is a girl's greatest charm.

Hollywood Beauty

Teen-Age Beauty Says Naturalness an Asset

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — No one could call Ann-Margret an overnight success for she began singing and dancing professionally at three.

"Every girl dreams of coming to Hollywood," she confessed, "but I was afraid they might want to make me over. I think naturalness is the most valuable trait a girl can have. I fought them at the studio about having my front teeth capped. So they're crooked. That's the way my teeth have grown," I told them.

"But everyone in Hollywood seems to feel strongly about even teeth, so I had them filed down and capped with perfectly straight ones. At first I found it difficult to say a soft 'S', but now I don't know that I have them on, and they don't give me any trouble, but that's the only thing they changed about me."

"I believe a girl should do everything she can to give herself confidence in her appearance, and if she is self-conscious about her teeth, I would advise that she go to a dentist. It is certainly quicker and surer and cheaper to have caps than to have your teeth straightened."

We were lunching at the studio, and when a piece of lemon meringue pie was carried by Ann called to the waitress, "I'll have that for dessert."

LOVES LEMON

"I don't have a sweet tooth, but lemon pie is my weakness," she explained. "I have mother to thank because she taught me good eating habits. I was not allowed soft drinks, candy bars or cake. We had cookies and a jar of hard candy, but our meals were balanced and I never had a teen-age skin problem. I think diet has much more to do with having a clear skin than most people realize."

The publicity girl with us enthused about Ann-Margret's skin.

"How do you cleanse it?" I asked.

"My favorite way is soap and water. But the soap is a very special formula that is non-drying and helpful in keeping a good skin."

"The most important thing is to learn how to get your skin clean and how to keep it that way," Ann concluded.

Consumer Safeguards Ordered by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy Thursday sent Congress a large package of proposals to protect the consumer.

In recommendations that would cost about $10,000,000 a year in addition to programs already covered in budget requests, he urged steps to assure:

1. Safe, effective drugs for the ailing.
2. Beauty aids that won't burn a lady's skin.
3. TV sets that will get more channels.
4. Installment contracts that reveal the true rate of interest.
5. Wider inspection to bar unwholesome meat from dinner tables.

Legislation already is under consideration on some of these points.

With a bow to housewives, Kennedy said: "Many of the new products used in the home are highly complex. The housewife is called upon to be an amateur electrician, mechanic, chemist, toxicologist, dietitian, and mathematician—but she is rarely furnished the information she needs to perform these tasks proficiently."

On cosmetics, Kennedy urged legislation to require their testing for safety before marketing.

As for drugs, Kennedy said 9,000 new ones developed in the last quarter-century have saved countless lives. But many had not lived up to sponsors' claims. He urged, among other things, that manufacturers be required to show that a drug is effective, as well as safe, before marketing it.

Under his plan, the government could assign simple common names to drugs. Officials said drug firms could still use their brand names but that in some cases a physician could save his patients money by prescribing the common name.

Job Training Act Historic—JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy Thursday signed the manpower training bill he had given top domestic priority and hailed it as perhaps the most important full-employment legislation in 16 years.

The new law, enacted only two days ago by Congress, authorized a three-year, $435,000,000 program designed to take up to 1,000,000 Americans off relief rolls by training them for new jobs.

Unemployed workers, forced into idleness by automation or disappearing markets, will be given free vocational schooling or on-the-job training for as much as a year.

The president called the program "perhaps the most significant legislation in the area of employment since the historic Employment Act of 1946."

Reds Turn Pesky Over Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters) — The Communists Thursday harassed West Berlin with pestering tactics that included the brief abduction of a West Berlin customs official and the resumption of Soviet flights in the divided city's air corridors.

No explanation was available immediately for the abduction and release 3 1/2 hours later of 28-year-old Hans Scharnow. He was as mystified as Western officials about the reason behind the kidnapping.

Scharnow said his captors entered the French sector by cutting a hole in the barbed wire barricade dividing Berlin.

Cobble Hill Resident Dies at 61

DUNCAN — Mrs. Gertrude Ada Moyse passed away at King's Daughters' Hospital, aged 61. Born in London, England, she came to the Red Deer, Alta., district in 1926 and moved to Mission City, B.C., in 1933.

For the past two years she was a resident of Mill Bay Road, Cobble Hill. She was a music teacher by profession.

Funeral services will be held from St. John's Anglican Church, Cobble Hill, Saturday, March 17, at 4 p.m.

ROUND TRIPS

In another development Thursday, three Soviet transport planes flew round trips in the southern air corridors linking West Berlin with Frankfurt, West Germany.

NO INTERFERENCE

Allied officials said the Russian planes did not interfere with allied military and commercial flights in the corridor over Communist East Germany.

To Winner Goes The Trial

BOURNEMOUTH, England (UPI) — William John Flower, 55, was ordered held for trial on drunken driving charges after a prosecuting attorney cited evidence Flower had won a gold watch for being the last man left standing in a drinking competition shortly before his arrest.

VACUUM
CUTS

Lawn-Boy's exclusive new Chute and Bag grasscatcher easily gives you the neatest and cleanest lawn in the neighbourhood. It holds more than a bushel basket full and can be removed for emptying in seconds. High velocity vacuum-action shoots the grass in under pressure, filling the back of the bag first. The Chute and Bag design eliminates clogging completely.

LIGHTWEIGHT. The new 1962 Lawn-Boy is built with ultra-light magnesium that takes the "push" out of mowing. All you have to do is guide your Lawn-Boy.

SOME OF THE FEATURES THAT MAKE LAWN-BOY THE SAFEST MOWER YOU CAN BUY

- Exclusive on-off switch prevents starting a Lawn-Boy accidentally.
- Lawn-Boy's special case-hardened steel blade stays sharp.
- Lawn-Boy's safety designed housing is approved by the American Standards Association.
- Every Lawn-Boy handle has a safety catch to prevent you from accidentally walking into the mower should an obstacle bring it to a sudden stop.

Second Gaslight Era Sends Profits Soaring

By JOHN F. CUNIFF — New York, says his company was the only piano roll maker to survive the 1930s and 1940s. Now he sells hundreds of thousands a year. Of what? "Oh, Shine on Harvest Moon. When Irish Eyes are Smiling. The Piano Roll Blues. Beer Barrel Polka," says Cortlander. "It's a nostalgic sort of thing."

NEW YORK (AP)—With the enthusiasm of the old medicine pedlar, U.S. merchants are rediscovering an ancient maxim: Tug at the heart strings and you'll haul in a bundle.

This knowledge has made nostalgia big business. And, say its merchants, business is getting better as people search for the old kitchen comforts amid their parlor-like homes.

"There's more interest now in home life—like in the old days," explains a piano roll manufacturer who once again is thriving after two lean decades.

PULLING IN BILLS

Old gas lamps, old ale houses and restaurants, an old railroad, old-fashioned hosts, busy old valetines and old French telephones are pulling in the old dollar bill.

The success of Disneyland and its counterparts elsewhere in the United States are attributable, in part, to nostalgia.

"The rapid changes in the modern world are making people look for something to hold on to," says Dr. Ernest Dichter, a widely-known motivational researcher.

The American Gas Association calls this the second gaslight era, showing statistical evidence of 750,000 outdoor gas lamps now, compared with the oldtime peak of 300,000 in 1914.

The soft, moon-like glow of the old-time lamps lights suburban streets, restaurants, motels, drive-in theatres and airports in many U.S. cities.

The Old Farmer's Almanac is flourishing in telling city folks when to plant their turnips.

Garden Notes

Teen-Agers Verboten

By M. V. CHERNUT, FRES

It isn't a very good idea to go sowing or cultivating the soil in the strawberry patch just when the plants are coming into bloom. With all our mild climate, it is a fairly common thing to get ground frosts during the critical flowering period, especially in low-lying areas, and the increased radiation of warmth from newly-sown soil makes this menace all the greater.

Most strawberry beds need some attention in early spring, though, especially when a wet fall and winter has packed and consolidated the surface since the autumn clean-up, or when alternate frosts and thaws have heaved the plants almost out of the ground. It behooves us, then, to get this work done as far in advance of the flowering period as possible.

After the removal of dead leaves from the plants and clearing away any rubbish which may have blown in and accumulated through the winter, the surface between the plants and between the rows should be pricked over lightly and shallowly with a digging fork, at the same time scratching in a dressing of any good general fertilizer at the rate of one cupful per square yard.

The pricking over is, of course, to break up the crust and allow air to penetrate to the roots, and the fertilizer is to get the plants away to a good start. In most cases, this is all you can do for your plants at the moment, but one exception to this treatment is when the bed was mulched with straw or manure after the clean-up last fall.

In this case, the soil surface should be fairly loose and open—thanks to the mulch—and needn't be touched at all. Just shake up and loosen the manure mulch with the fork, and this should do the plants nicely until the time comes to bed them down with straw.

If you set out strawberry plants last fall, they should be looked over, carefully for any evidence of heaving or lifting during our frosty spells, and any such plants should be firmed down with the feet before pulling up a little earth around them with the hoe.

When a fellow buys and sets out some fine strawberry plants, he wants to start enjoying the fruits of his enterprise as soon as possible.

He may be drooling over the prospects of great bowls of home-grown strawberries and cream this summer, but unfortunately there are some pretty rigid rules governing the cropping of newly-planted strawberries.

If the plants were set out in the late summer last year, or even up to Sept. 15, you're home-free, and they may be allowed to crop to their heart's content. The crop won't be as big as next year's yield, but it should be pretty good, and in any case it needn't be restricted artificially.

With plants set out last fall after the middle of September, a small "sampling" crop may be taken and the plants allowed to bear, say, one truss of fruit per plant. The roots can handle this much work without hurting the prospects for future cropping.

Young strawberries planted this spring, though, are strictly verboten. Their flower stalks should be snipped off as fast as they appear, for we don't want any "teen-age mothers" here. By throwing all their strength into building up a good root system and strong crowns, a heavy crop in 1963 is assured.

We're Party to Party Party

PALM BEACH, Fla.—Of all the communities in the United States, there is probably none as social as Palm Beach, Florida. This sun-drenched, diamond-studded, Rolls-Royce-clogged stretch of real estate has more cocktail and dinner parties per capita than any other town in the free world.

There is a society editor for every five families in the colony, as opposed to the national average of one for every 100 families.

But Palm Beach is not social just for the sake of being social. All the social activity down here has to do with raising money for some charity. It is very gauche to have a party for the sake of a party, and therefore everyone is in the business of giving a party for a cause.

It's gotten so two people can't have breakfast together without making a donation to an orphanage.

As a matter of fact, while there is no shortage of parties and balls in Palm Beach, there is a shortage of diseases to give them for.

The oddities in Palm Beach have all the good diseases tied up. The first families of this city have a monopoly on heart, cancer, cerebral palsy, and mental health, and a newcomer who is trying to crash society down here has very few illnesses left to choose from.

The other day we asked four friends to have lunch with us, and one of them, Mrs. Paul Ames, asked, "What's it for?"

"Nothing," we said. "We just want to have lunch."

"You can't just have lunch without a reason," she said. "If you can come up with a good disease we'll accept."

We called the local Palm Beach hospital and asked them if there were any diseases that there hadn't been benefits held for this season.

"You're calling awfully late," the woman said. "The only thing we still have open is malaria and yellow fever."

"Is arthritis taken?" we asked.

"It was one of the first to go. We can't give you diabetes or hay fever, either."

"Well, is there some hospital I could raise money for?"

"We have an animal shelter in Cheyenne, Wyoming, that hasn't been spoken for."

"Okay, I'll give a luncheon for that. What do I do now?"

"You have to form a committee."

"What for?"

"To get your wife's picture in the newspaper. Why else would you want to give a benefit?"

"That's true," we said.

"Just call the local newspaper and they'll send a photographer over in 10 minutes."

We formed a committee consisting of our wife as honorary chairman, Mrs. Ames as program chairman, and Mrs. Howard Gould of Cincinnati as decorations chairman.

After the newspaper photographers took their pictures, we took the women and their husbands to lunch in the coffee shop of the Palm Beach Towers where we all were staying.

Unfortunately, the coffee shop was very crowded and we had to share our table with three couples whom we didn't know.

But it worked out fine, because the three couples each pledged $1,000 for our animal shelter in Cheyenne and our party in turn bought $3,000 in raffle tickets which they were selling for a retired lifeguards' home in Seattle.

Hollywood Today

By Sheilah Graham

Cool Sum for Chic House

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Anthony Quinn paid a cool $250,000 for his new home in New York, a town house in the elegant East seventies. With The Visit postponed, Tony will be doing another play, Arturo U-I, for David Merrick early in the fall.

Judy Garland gets Dirk Bogarde or Peter Finch for her co-star in the film The Lonely Stage, she is making in London. It starts in May.

Ran Randall, whom I last saw twisting in Madrid with his dancer-wife, tells me he will spend "one year in Hollywood," but he did not say with or without his wife.

I asked Janet Leigh, "are you really opposed to having your daughter play the girl in Forty Pounds of Trouble?" Husband Tony (with) is the star and producer. "She's only six," explained Janet. "I want her to have a normal childhood. If later she wants to be an actress, that's all right."

Polly Bergen was chatting with me when a photographer asked me "is that Tammy Grimes?" Polly overheard and said coldly, "No, it is not Tammy Grimes." She told me of when she was coming back from Palm Springs and did not bother to use makeup or wear any glamorous clothes. "No one will recognize me," I said to my husband. We stopped at a drive-in, and when the waitress gave Freddie the check she turned to me and said, "May I have your autograph, Miss Bergen?"

Sodom and Gomorrah, starring Stewart Granger, Pier Angeli and Stanley Baker, has been seized by the Italian courts. Not for censorship reasons. The producers want to cut 45 minutes from the movie. Director Robert Aldrich says "never."

Comedian Youthful 69

Lloyd New Crusader For Old Family Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A

great name of movie history will be back in the theatres this season.

"I depend on what he is the time for it," said Harold Lloyd, still amazingly youthful as he says 69.

"I'm astounded at the kind of movies that are being shown nowadays. They're even advertising that this is the kind of picture you shouldn't take children to."

"Our business was built on family entertainment. You used to be able to take the whole family to any movie; now it's hard to find even one you can let your children see."

It seems to me we've got to get back to family movies. I hope my picture can help that along.

IT'S A COMEDY

His movie is called Harold Lloyd's World of Comedy, and he says that it is not a re-make.

"This is a new picture, a new concept," explained the comedian. "We start with an introduction, which makes use of still photographs. Then we have a sort of prologue-brief bits from various films that show the ingredients of screen comedy."

"The result is what you might call an anthology or compo. I think it's funny."

Wish I were as sure as some of my colleagues on who will win the Oscar this year. There are so many indefinable factors. For instance, if Sophia Loren were here while the final voting is on, I believe she would win for best actress. Natalie Wood will be here, so her chances are enhanced. But, take the two performances—Sophia in Two Women and Natalie in Splendor in the Grass. Both are excellent, but one is superb.

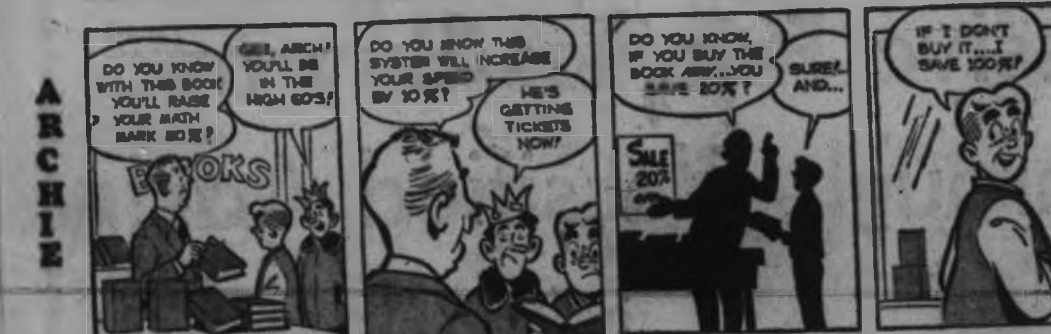

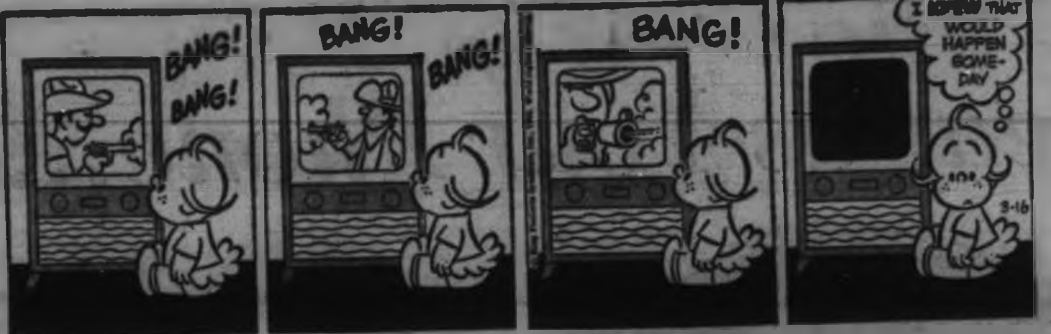

And I can't go along with the idea that because Spencer Tracy and Max Baer were both nominated for Judgment at Nuremberg that one will rub out the other. I think that one or the other of these two should win.

Eskimo Voting 'Not Intelligent'

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal senators greeted with a mixed reception Thursday a bill which would give Eskimos in the eastern Arctic the right to vote in federal elections.

The bill, given second reading approval in principle—in the Senate, adds the Keewatin and Franklin districts of the Northwest Territories to the federal riding of Mackenzie River to the west. It involves about 4,000 adults, most of them Eskimos.

Senator Thomas Crerar (L-Manitoba), a cabinet minister under Mackenzie King, said most Eskimos are unable to speak English and wouldn't be able to cast an intelligent vote.

It had been a mistake to grant the franchise to "ignorant" Eskimos in the Mackenzie River riding. The error should not be extended.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L-Ontario), who described himself as "a fundamental Liberal," said he could not agree with the principles involved in Senator Crerar's remarks.

Commons 'Tape' Guarded

OTTAWA (CP)—Speaker Roland Michener said Thursday that dictation machine recordings of Commons proceedings are "closely guarded."

He was reporting to the Commons on an experiment with such recordings as a means to assist the shorthand reporters of Hansard, the Commons record.

The experiment was started at the last session.

Mr. Michener said recordings made last year were deliberately destroyed and those now being made were "closely guarded" to see that no improper use was made of them.

Anti-Lash Bill Divides Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Two MPs argued Thursday that there is a place for corporal punishment in Canada and said they favor retaining the lash, strap and paddle.

But two others supported the private bill by Frank McGee (PC—York—Scarborough) which calls for the abolition of corporal punishment.

The proposal, which has been advocated by Mr. McGee in several previous sessions, again was "talked out" in the daily hour devoted to private members' business in the Commons. It did not come to a vote and thus falls to the bottom of a long list.

J. P. Deschamps (L—Montreal—Maisonneuve—Rosemont) said the House shouldn't be asked to waste its time on such a measure. Corporal punishment affected fewer than a dozen of Canada's 18,000,000-plus citizens in 1961.

Jack Wratten (PC—Brantford) said the strap is often needed to knock the "cockiness" out of cases in which it had worked wonders.

"MORE BITTER"

Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) said his long study of the matter has convinced him corporal punishment does exactly the opposite. It made criminals more bitter and determined to get even with society.

Gerald W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River) said the decreasing use of corporal punishment by judges and magistrates shows it is not wanted.

BOEHM BOOSTED

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Oscar-winning director Vincent Minnelli says Karl Boehm will be the next European to achieve major stardom in Hollywood.

Minnelli is enthusiastic about Boehm's performance in "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

Union Loses Appeal Against Act

VANCOUVER (CP)—A judge of the B.C. Court of Appeal ruled yesterday a union cannot discriminate against a member who refuses to contribute to a political party.

Mr. Justice H. W. Davey in a written decision on the recent appeal of the Oil Workers' Union against the Labor Relations Act, said the act endows union with important rights and privileges and the right of individual members to take part in politics.

"In fact," he said, "the statute protects that right by prohibiting discrimination against any member who refuses to contribute to any political party."

Goods Found in Home Evidence at Hearing

Evidence given at a preliminary hearing here Wednesday that a quantity of jewelry and 13 Indian sweaters were found under a bed at a home near the Malahat Chateau brought about a committal for trial for John Gordon William Burkmar on a charge of breaking, entering and theft.

Many early Greek and Roman roads are in use today. The original paving stone is still intact after many centuries.

Plays Win Praise

By BERT RINNY

With the 22nd annual Schools' Drama Festival at Mount View High School on Wednesday evening came in for high commendation from Mrs. Kirkins.

WELL STAGED

Colquitz Junior High offered The Princess Who Disappeared, which, observed Mrs. Kirkins, was "well staged, effective, spirited and nicely colored."

But the adjudicator noted a "tendency to shout."

Two entries by Mount View followed.

The first, More Things in Heaven, one of the few serious productions in the festival, was described by the adjudicator as "sincere and well controlled; a very good attempt at a difficult play."

OUTSTANDING

Gordon Jolley, playing the doctor, did "an outstanding job in a difficult part."

Sole Basanta's Margaret was described as "very sensitive."

The program concluded with The Pie and the Tart, also by Mount View.

"This was a happy production, exceptionally well done all through," said the adjudicator.

Mrs. Kirkins added that she had never, in any similar festival, seen better team work than that between Herb Sharpe and Jim Coey as Pierre and Jean.

"But," she continued, "the whole cast were so good it is virtually impossible to single out any one performer."

FINAL PROGRAM

The final competitive program goes on today at 8 p.m. at S. J. Willis Junior High School. The three plays are Lady Gregory's The Rising of the Moon by Mount Newton Junior-Senior High School, On fine individual performances. Dartmoor presented by Vic-er's The Happy Journey by toria High and Thornton Wild. Esquimalt Senior High.

The three plays presented at Mount View High School on Wednesday evening came in for high commendation from Mrs. Kirkins.

WELL STAGED

Colquitz Junior High offered The Princess Who Disappeared, which, observed Mrs. Kirkins, was "well staged, effective, spirited and nicely colored."

But the adjudicator noted a "tendency to shout."

Two entries by Mount View followed.

The first, More Things in Heaven, one of the few serious productions in the festival, was described by the adjudicator as "sincere and well controlled; a very good attempt at a difficult play."

OUTSTANDING

Gordon Jolley, playing the doctor, did "an outstanding job in a difficult part."

Sole Basanta's Margaret was described as "very sensitive."

The program concluded with The Pie and the Tart, also by Mount View.

"This was a happy production, exceptionally well done all through," said the adjudicator.

Mrs. Kirkins added that she had never, in any similar festival, seen better team work than that between Herb Sharpe and Jim Coey as Pierre and Jean.

"But," she continued, "the whole cast were so good it is virtually impossible to single out any one performer."

Higher Minimum

Wages Under Study

Revision of the minimum wages paid in the manufacturing, fishing, fresh fruit and vegetables, mercantile and hotel and catering industries has been ordered by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson.

He said hearings would be held shortly.

"It is considered essential that the minimum wage orders for industrial concerns be revised as soon as possible," he told the legislature.

MINIMUM WAGE

Mr. Peterson was replying to Rae Eddie (NDP-CCF—New Westminster) who asked that a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour be established across Canada for all industries.

"It's no longer possible to ask anyone to work for less than that," he said, adding that a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour still applied in some B.C. industries.

FAIR SHARE

Mr. Peterson stated wage earners were entitled to a fair share of the products they produce and agreed that in any plan for the economic development of the country there should be a definite minimum wage policy.

After the current hearings are completed, wages in other industries will likely be revised "to eliminate those wages liable to be detrimental to the health and welfare of the people," he said.

Keep Down Labor Laws MLA Urges

A minimum of labor legislation should be on the statute books so both labor and management can "find their own level" in negotiations and disputes, John Squire (NDP-CCF—Alberni) said yesterday.

Mr. Squire charged most of the unrest in the province to day was due to the "skanked" labor legislation passed during the last 10 years.

The member also accused Premier Bennett, Highways Minister Gagliardi and Works Minister Chant of continually making statements derogatory to labor in the legislature.

"It's all too common," said Mr. Squire. "It's a matter of pride to me to pack a labor union button."

More Teeth In Rules Demanded

Greater penalties for infraction of labor laws were called for yesterday by Rae Eddie (NDP-CCF—New Westminster).

He also urged there be greater policing of employment practices and said department of labor inspectors should be able to go into premises and make a thorough inspection without any restrictions.

GUIDED TOUR

All too often, said the member, inspectors were taken on a guided tour by management and were not taken near those things management did not want the inspectors to see.

Mr. Eddie said he deplored the fact the standing committee on labor had not been convened this session and said there were many questions it could have considered.

'ODD' WAY

He also told the legislature the department functioned in an "odd" way in that no action was taken unless some worker laid a complaint. Many workers, he said, were loath to do this because they feared they would be discriminated against.

Tube Mill To Be Sent To Canada

LONDON (Reuters)—Page-Hersey Tubes of Toronto has bought the entire plant and equipment of Britain's newest steel tube mill in Flintshire, Scotland.

The mill, owned by Stewarts and Lloyds, was completed a year ago at a cost of $3,000,000 ($8,700,000) to produce pipe for the oil and gas industry.

The Canadian firm intends to ship the plant to Camrose, Alta., to produce pipe for the oil and natural gas industry there.

Stebner-eye view of "Inner Harbor" will be delivered to city hall today.

3-by-5 Love Letter To City

By TED PULFORD

A YOUNG, long-haired artist will arrive in Mayor R. B. Wilson's office this morning with a large canvas under his arm.

On it is a painting of the Inner Harbor—but it is a likeness of the famed waterway such as neither the mayor nor any other Victorian, in his most vivid imaginings, has ever seen before.

The painter puffing along toward the chief magistrate's office will be Herbert Siebner, about to begin the most important day in his life.

Love, Thanks

He will present the painting to "the city of Victoria, with love and thanks for giving me a place to live," then rush over to the new courthouse at 10:15 to become a citizen of Canada.

"I owe very much to Victoria," Mr. Siebner said last night as he lounged beside the blazing canvas of the three-by-five foot Inner Harbor. "It has given me—a place to work in freedom."

The German-born painter—whose last rally into the field of civic abstraction raised a dust over Prince George which hasn't settled yet—hoped Victorians would be more broad-minded over his gift.

No Humor

"Those people have no sense of humor," he scoffed, recalling the uproar raised by the Prince George Chamber of Commerce over a Stebner "aerial view" of the northern city.

"If they wanted a photographic likeness, then they should be looking at snapshots instead."

After carefully pointing out which direction was up on the city's forthcoming gift, Mr. Siebner admitted that many people were shocked at their first sight of an abstraction—particularly an abstraction of an old landmark.

Europe Tour

For everyone who accuses the controversial Mr. Siebner of being a pitcher of paint, however, there is someone else to acclaim his work as fresh, imaginative and vigorous.

He has just received a Canada Council grant for research in sculpture-coloring techniques and will leave shortly on a tour of Europe.

It has not yet been decided where in city hall "Inner Harbor" will hang. "They can do what they wish with it," concluded Mr. Siebner. "It's for the city I love."

Grit Sees Sacred Victory

Liberal M.L.A. J. Gordon Gibson thinks Social Credit will be re-elected if Premier Bennett calls a surprise election this year.

The fiery North Vancouver millionaire last night told the legislature the premier shouldn't threaten the opposition with an election.

"I believe you would go back in," he told the Socreds. "You've got enough seats now. You don't need any more."

Liberal leader Ray Perrault winced at his member's remarks.

But Premier Bennett was all smiles. "There you are," said the premier, turning to Labor Minister Peterson who has been reportedly opposed to calling a surprise election.

CCF Warns

Labor 'Gangs' Threat

U.S. labor hoodlums may be trying to find their way into the B.C. labor movement, Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCF — Vancouver-East) warned in the legislature yesterday.

His warning was followed by a disclosure from Attorney-General Robert Bonner that a prominent B.C. labor leader has been receiving physical threats. The labor leader in thought to be Pat O'Neil, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

Mr. Bonner said RCMP have been called in to investigate the threats and to investigate the Clayton Stratton killing which has been linked with union activity.

SEAT PICKET

Stratton had been arrested in Vancouver for beating a union picket and was released on $500 bail after saying he had come from Port Angeles especially to take part in the beating.

Stratton, a 42-year-old U.S. seaman was shot after forcing his way into the Vancouver home of Gustav Strathie and pistol-whipping him. It is thought the attack was a case of mistaken identity and that

Mountie Loses A Leg

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—A 41-year-old Terrace man has been charged with attempted murder in the .303-calibre rifle shooting of an RCMP constable who answered a bank holdup alarm.

Charles Augusta Dilley will be arraigned in court before Magistrate C. J. Norrington. Constable Gusty Fraser, 27, is in serious condition in hospital in this west-central B.C. village. He was shot in the abdomen, leg and arm by a masked gunman early Thursday.

LEG AMPUTATED

Hospital officials said Fraser, the father of a year-old daughter has had his leg amputated below the knee.

Police said a suspect in the bank holdup was captured by a number of citizens. Bank employees said the gunman fired a volley of shots through a glass door and hit the policeman as he entered the Bank of Montreal branch. The masked man escaped with an estimated $3,800.

'GUN IS LOADED'

107 Missing In Plane Over Pacific

MANILA (AP)—A chartered airliner bound for South Viet Nam with 107 persons aboard was missing and presumed down in the western Pacific today. The plane carried 93 U.S. military personnel, three South Vietnamese and a civilian crew of 11 Californians.

The Super-Constellation of the Flying Tiger Airlines was lost on the Guam-to-the-Philippines leg of a trans-Pacific flight from Travis Air Force Base in northern California.

U.S. bases in the western Pacific mustered an armada of planes and ships to search for the missing plane. All they had to go on was the pilot's last routine radio message to Guam sent about 770 miles west of that U.S. base.

The plane took off from Guam at 8:57 p.m. local time Thursday carrying fuel for about nine hours of flying. It was due at Clark Air Force Base north of Manila at 3:16 a.m. Friday.

WIDE SEARCH

The search began from Clark and Anderson Air Force Bases on Guam at dawn Friday. U.S. Navy, marine corps and coast guard planes joined in from the Philippines, and several navy vessels set out from Guam. Air force planes from Okinawa were also participating.

BOUND FOR VIET NAM

Military sources in Saigon said the plane was bound for South Viet Nam and was due there this morning.

Skippping Heart Ousts Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heart trouble has forced astronaut Donald Slayton out of his assignment for the next orbital space flight and the job will go to M. Scott Carpenter, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday night.

Walter M. Soderstrom will be Carpenter's backup pilot on the flight, now tentatively set for April or early May.

Carpenter was backup pilot for John Glenn Jr., when Glenn made the first U.S. orbital flight last month.

ERRATIC RATE

The civilian space agency announced the change in plans a few hours after an unofficial report was circulated. Doctors described Slayton's difficulty as an "erratic heart rate."

The condition was detected in November of 1959. NASA said. At that time it was decided Slayton, an air force major on loan to NASA, should continue in the program and the condition should be monitored closely.

DISAPPOINTED

An air force medical board meeting Thursday to review the case advised NASA that Slayton should not attempt the mission, known as the official Project Mercury scheduled as MA7. A board of civilian cardiologists confirmed the condition.

On learning the board's decision, Slayton said he is extremely disappointed "to realize that I will not be piloting MA7—well, I'm very disappointed to say the least."

GENEVA (CP)—Rival plans for world disarmament and Russian rejection of a Western nuclear proposal featured the first working day of the 17-nation Geneva conference Thursday.

The Soviet turnaround of President Kennedy's plan for a safeguarded nuclear test ban treaty came at a sidelines meeting of the three nuclear powers after the end of the 17-nation group's 15-minute deliberations.

Arthur Dean, U.S. nuclear test ban negotiator, proposed conclusion of a treaty based on an earlier Anglo-American draft with modifications to safeguard against secret test preparations. The Soviet negotiator, Semyon

Premier Bennett yesterday offered to sell the B.C. Electric transit system to the municipalities for a nominal sum of $1.

The premier's offer was made during a special meeting with mayors and reeves of Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver.

He said if they accept his offer, he will introduce in the legislature a bill guaranteeing a fixed subsidy until existing franchises expire, and that future governments will be committed to continue a fixed subsidy for "an undetermined number of years" beyond that time.

It was reported that B.C. Electric lost $1,000,000 in Vancouver and $300,000 in Greater Victoria during the last year of bus operation prior to the

Modern Cavalier for Martyr King

LONDON (AP)—Henry Stuart Whitley-Crewe calculated yesterday he has spent £25,000 trying to get King Charles I back on the Church of England calendar.

The 80-year-old retired army captain has gone through his family fortune fighting for the king, who was beheaded in 1649 after the bloody civil war between the Roundheads and Royalists.

It's been a lost cause so far, but Whitley-Crewe declared: "I have no regrets. I shall try to keep on fighting."

He launched the campaign in 1908 by forming a group known as "The Royal Martyr Union."

King Charles had been a devout Christian all his life and after the restoration of the monarchy the Church of England set aside a special feast day for the "martyr king."

But after the 1688 revolution which brought William and Mary to the throne, Charles' name was struck from the church calendar, largely for political reasons.

It has never been put back. The Royal Martyr Union claimed about 300 members at its peak. Many of them were poets.

"Most of them are dead now," the old cavalier sighed. "People said I wasted my fortune but I've done what I said I'd do. I've tried. And I'd do it again."

DON ASHBEE
...or nobodySKIP MacKAY

But Lacrosse Hassle May Be Brewing

MacKay Signed, Ashbee Signing

By JIM TAYLOR

Victoria Shamrocks have signed Skip MacKay and will play the Colonist that he will play for the Shamrocks or nobody this season.

Shamrocks announced MacKay's signing yesterday after club president George McWilliam and manager Hec McNeill made a trip to Nainital Lake to talk to the veteran defenceman. McWilliam also said the club has come to terms with Ashbee, and Ashbee told the Colonist that he will play for the Shamrocks or nobody this season.

But if the Irish take MacKay and Ashbee, Nainital will be left without two of the Inter-City Lacrosse League's biggest stars in a year when the club is admittedly rebuilding. The question is, will Nainital hold still for it, or fight the transfers?

MacKay has signed a transfer form to Shamrocks, and Ashbee will do the same. But Nainital has to release both players or the transfers will go on to league commissioner Tommy Gordon for a ruling.

Club president Bill McFarlane of Nainital would make no comment on his club's decision last night, other than to say he "had no doubt that Victoria is up here trying to steal Nainital players."

Colonist sources indicated the best guess is that Nainital will let MacKay go, but may balk at turning loose the high-scoring Ashbee, despite a seemingly irreparable rift between Ashbee and the club.

If Shamrocks do get Ashbee and MacKay, they will have taken two tremendous steps in their rebuilding campaign.

Ashbee ranks one-two with Nainital's Jack Bionda as the finest player in the league over the past few seasons. A perennial all-star, Ashbee re-joined on an earlier promise that he was giving up the game after a fight with the Nainital club "because I don't want to leave lacrosse on a bad note like that."

MacKay has a reputation of one of the league's roughest and toughest players, and set out a suspension part of last season. But he said last night he is through with that part club had promised not to fight of the game and expects to have his best season at Victoria.

"I'd like to make people forget about me as a fighter and remember me first as a player," he said. "I think a heck of a season with the Shamrocks. I'm certainly going to try."

Gold River Road Will Stay Closed Unless New Legislation Introduced

By ALEC MERRIMAN

The Elk River Timber Company's logging road to Gold River will not be opened for public recreation use unless new legislation is introduced to ensure that such a private road, used by the public, will not become a public road.

That was the firm stand taken before the legislative access committee yesterday by ERT president T. R. Sheldon who stated outright that for the time being his company would prefer to see public use of the area restricted to the existing bus transportation service.

His answer came after Recreation Minister Earle Westwood asked if he would consider public use of the road on weekends and after-work hours because "it could be used to open up a tremendous recreation area."

DIFFERENCE EMPHASIZED

In the brief he presented to the committee, Mr. Sheldon emphasized the difference between a tree farm licence and Crown grant land such as the ERT property. "Despite current public belief, roads constructed on Crown grant lands by the owner (the ERT road falls in this category) are not automatically subject to public use," he said.

Company lawyer John Creery explained that under existing regulation under the Motor Vehicles Act that, if ERT were to allow public use of its road, that road could become a public highway.

"I suppose legislation could be framed to avoid the consequences," he said.

Mr. Sheldon said that "to the extent the road could be safely operated, we would go by legislation."

He said unrestricted travel by the public and logging use would not be compatible. "I would have to take a pretty good look," he said. "The big worry is a change of ownership could come from public use."

John Squire (NDP-CCF, Alberni) said the projected development of the north end of Vancouver Island hinges on the ERT road and explained that the road route is the only pass through the area.

"We are talking about a road that will be an arterial highway. There just isn't another route," complained Dan Campbell (SC, Comox).

"Eventually you are right."

There will be more people in Gold River area for sure," agreed Mr. Sheldon.

The road that is closed to the public starts at Buttle Lake, near Strathcona Dam, follows the east shore of Buttle Lake, through the Elk Valley and Strathcona Park, through Tahsis Company tree farm licences to Gold River.

It is about 60 miles from Campbell River to Gold River, but there is a public road as far as Buttle Lake, about 30 miles.

PULP MILL?

Recreationists seek access into the fabulous Elk River fishing area, Strathcona Park, Gold River and Heber River steelheading waters, (yes, salmon fishing at Gold River, superb boating waters of Nootka Sound, and elk hunting and fishing in the Gold Lake area. The area is already becoming settled by fishermen, miners and loggers. A pulp mill is mooted for the area.

Recreationists are barred by the ERT gates and those who do get through are made unwelcome by the Tahsis Co. which stands comfortably behind the gates of ERT, while ERT takes the brunt of the public anger.

"We do fear more people on our lands may lead to fires, but we appreciate people now are more careful about fire," Mr. Sheldon said.

CARS COSTLY

He claimed that private cars create more maintenance costs on a road than trucks. "To maintain a road for passenger service is more costly," he said.

"To make the road public would greatly increase our costs."

In the brief he explained that when private roads become public, they become highways under the Motor Vehicles Act. This, it said, can result in the application to the private road of all provisions of the Motor Vehicles Act and Regulations and the provisions of other acts such as the Gasoline Tax Act and the Motor-Fuel Use Tax Act which would unfairly involve the owner of the private road in additional expense, regulation of truck and load size and weights, speeds, and other factors affecting adversely the cost of operation.

"It will be necessary to review these acts in detail to fully determine the adverse effect of any legislation changing present conditions," he said.

He said the Elk River Timber Company has no provision which prohibits intermediate stops while in Strathcona Park. "We suggest, however, that if this is undertaken, that for safety of equipment and personnel, that stops be limited to reasonably safe and predetermined locations within the park," he said.

SEVEN MILES

Mr. Sheldon said the ERT had made a proposal to the highways department for the company to build about seven miles of road "which would give the public unrestricted access to the Buttle Lake area." (This is outside the Gold River Road area now barred to the public.)

At present the public shares about one and one-half miles of road to Buttle Lake with the ERT.

Two Collisions

'Friend' Hijacks Car and Driver Threatens to Kill

Called to an accident on Esquimalt Road last night, city police found it was really two accidents and no accident at all.

At Esquimalt and Catherine, city traffic Constables Murray MacArthur and Richard Ward were given this report by Allan R. Boyd, 365 Richmond:

He'd been sitting in his car, parked on Yates below Douglas, when a man he'd known in the past came along and forced his way into Boyd's car. Boyd drove him around by the police station on Flagstaff Street.

THREAT TO KILL

There the unwanted passenger threatened to kill Boyd if he didn't drive him out to HMCS Naden.

Crossing Johnson Street bridge, the passenger stepped on the gas pedal, causing Boyd's car to hit the rear of a car driven in the same direction by Max Schoenfeld, 115 Colquhoun.

TRY FOR CONTROL

Boyd's car kept on its way, with Boyd trying to get control of both the car and his passenger.

Way Clear For Park At Lake

A cabinet order-in-council has paved the way for establishment of a new lake park in the Victoria area.

It approves sale by Victoria of Thetis Lake property for a B.C. Electric power line right-of-way for $6,300 plus 200 acres in the Durrance Lake area.

This exchange of property will make it possible for development of Durrance Lake, considered one of the better trout fishing lakes in the area, as a park.

Wilson's Stand Unknown

Pruning of Budget Tough Job If Mill-Rate to Stay Same

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Perhaps the toughest fight in its 100-year history faces city council late this month when the annual budget-pruning session will begin.

Only about half of the departmental budgets have been completed — some higher than last year, some lower — but all are already doubtful about holding the mill rate to last year's level of 53.4 mills.

That level was achieved in 1961 only by ruthless paring of the budget. Even so, it still represented an increase of 63 mills over the previous year.

Warning signs on the city's financial horizon include:

● A drop of some $2,303,320 in taxable assessments.

● An increase of about five per cent in the Greater Victoria school board's budget, to $8,780,845.

● The $100,000 program the city started this year to improve depressed areas of Victoria.

● A carry-over of works from last year's heavy budget pruning.

● Plans to build a new, $70,000 firehall at the intersection of John and Turner streets, near the Point Ellice bridge, to replace the No. 2 firehall at Douglas and Burnside.

● Wage increase being sought vigorously by city hall employees who won little or no increase last year.

● The $50,000 already committed to pay costs of the city's centennial celebrations.

● Planned construction of a $60,000 juvenile detention home on an intermunicipal basis.

● Some $12,000 which is the city's share of a Greater Victoria traffic study proposed by the Capital Region Planning Board.

The 1961 mill rate was achieved only after council had chopped $428,534 from the budget and the provincial government provided an unexpected $88,800 shot in the arm with a new formula for sharing federal school grants.

CARRY-OVERS

Carry-overs from last year will include $16,750 for street lighting on Cook and Burnside which was dropped on the understanding it would have priority this year, and parks department works.

The parks budget suffered badly last year with two chops — $15,600 the first time and $25,800 when aldermen became desperate.

Unknown quantity in this year's budget debate is Mayor H. B. Wilson. Some city officials feel he is not likely to drop important projects for the sake of keeping the mill-rate down.

City committees will begin a series of meetings March 26 to go through their budgets.

Meeting Set Tuesday

A public meeting of the Victoria British Island Association will be held Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in Norwood Hall, 734 Port. Speaker will be C. Gadowick, Dominion president of the Canadian British Island Association.

Tickets To Fair Sold Out

Hordes of Victorians who waited to the last minute to buy their Century 21 World's Fair advance tickets wound up disappointed.

A spokesman for T. Eaton Co., sales agents for the fair, reported they were sold right out several days before the March 15 deadline for advance sales.

LAST MORE

"We could have sold a lot more if we had had them," he reported.

The Victoria store tried to supplement its stock from Vancouver, but was turned down.

Advance sales opened in January, with $10 boxes of tickets offered for $6.50 and $2 single admissions selling for $1.80. Buyers received a further discount if they bought in large quantities.

SEE TO IT

Buzz Begins For Beds

By TED PULFORD

Phones are jumping in Vancouver Island's Centennial-Century 21 Accommodation Centre—even before carpenters have finished building the desks.

The centre, located in the Black Ball Building, has already handled these queries:

A man in Winchell-on-Ses, Essex, is bringing his family from England this summer and wants accommodation for two months.

VICTORIA FIRST

A Kingston, Ont., couple are heading for the World's Fair in Seattle early in May and want to visit Victoria first.

A man from Geneva, Ill., is planning to spend a week in the Express Hotel.

A sprinkling of Texans and a family from Monte Blanco, Mexico, have expressed the same desire.

When accommodation centre co-ordinator Ian McCaul gets his bureau rolling in high gear early next month, reservations will go streaming through 12 telephones, a teletype and a private telephone line direct to Seattle at the rate on one a minute.

POURING IN

Vital statistical information from all of the hotels, motels and resorts on the island—some 500 establishments in all—is already pouring into the centre for correlation on a massive master-filing system.

Average time for taking a reservation request on the telephone and reporting back to the customer will be less than three minutes.

Sheds Destroyed in Blaze Despite Firemen's Action

DUNCAN—Quick response of Duncan volunteer firemen called to a blaze on Third Street could not prevent the total destruction of two small sheds early yesterday. Value of a motor lost in the fire was estimated at $400.

NANAIMO—Hospital administrator Gordon Frith says plans are to start conversion of the old hospital Nov. 1 into a chronic care building.

DUNCAN—Local Rotarians Peter Bird and Doug Rorison and their families will attend the Rotary district conference in Tacoma next month. They were recently elected president and secretary.

DUNCAN—New committees of the Cowichan Agricultural Society, named recently, are: A1 committee, Ridley Wilson, Stanley Owens, Peter Greenwald; finance, D. R. O'Brien and A. H. Smith; Muttar; dairy, John Hulbert and Mr. Greenwald; sheep, William Evans; swine, Matthew Meir; beef, Tom Groves; field crops, Mr. Wilson; 4-H work, Archie Stevenson, Kenneth Jamison and Reeve Donald Morton; planning board, Mr. Stevenson; publicity, Reeve Morton and Miss Henrietta Rae; SPCA, Miss Mary Waidon; poultry, Mr. Muttar; plowing match, Henry Westwick and Mr. Jamison; operation soil, Mr. Hulbert, Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Westwick.

NORTH COWICHAN—February building permits of $53,100 showed a sharp decrease from $351,508 for the same month last year, according to the monthly statement from the municipal office.

Total for the first two months this year is $124,198. Last year's figure for the same period was $285,108.

DUNCAN—A total of 113 acres in grass in the Cowichan school district, including 10 acres of lawn and 55 acres of play fields, has to be cut from March 15 to Oct. 31, an average of once a week.

Estimated man-hours per week are: lawn, 33; play areas at Cowichan senior secondary, Quamichan and Mount Pleasant junior secondaries and at Alexander elementary, 168.

Rough grass area of 17 acres is cut three times a year with seven man hours per week.

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

A few of the many sides of Premier Bennett . . . or around and around he goes and where he stops nobody knows!

LOVE'S LABORS' LOST?

Premier Bennett crossed the floor again yesterday — but only for five minutes!

"I'm going to sit with Camille," he whispered to a reporter.

Camille, of course, was Mrs. Camille Mathew (NDP-CCF-Delta) who cried in the legislature the evening before after the government had ripped in to her for daring to criticize Jericho School for the deaf.

The premier made his apologies, chatted for a few minutes, stopped off for a brief few words with Harry McKay (L-Vernon) and then returned the floor to take his seat and listen to the debate on Labor Minister Leslie Peterson's estimates.

PASSING PARADE: After the mayors and Reeves met Premier Bennett to discuss the B.C. Electric bus system yesterday a reporter asked him what sort of meeting it had been.

"I can't say," he replied. "The mayor will make a statement."

"Was it a happy meeting?" he was asked.

"Just say that afterwards I smiled," said the premier.

"You're always smiling," persisted the newsmen.

"That's right, my friend," chuckled the smiling premier as he jogged off down the corridor. "I've been smiling all session . . . the whole session . . . nothing but good-will."

Everyone knows he's off to Ottawa this weekend for discussions on power with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and federal Finance Minister Dandridge Fleming.

Nothing too mysterious about that.

So Premier Bennett is generating his own mystery.

He hasn't yet decided, he made it known yesterday, whether he'll travel by the Canadian route or the American route.

It all depends on whom he decides to see on the way.

RELIABLE SOURCE: The rumour that Attorney General Robert Bennett was about to leave the cabinet intrigued Premier Bennett—mainly because he couldn't understand how reporters got hold of such information.

Yesterday he looked up from his seat and caught the eye of the press gallery members.

Slowly the premier cranked the imaginary handle of an imaginary rumormill.

"What's new today?" he mumbled.

UPH AND DOWNS: When a debate begins to wax hot in the legislature Premier Bennett makes like a yo-yo, unobtrusively jumping up and down as he throws some more verbal gasoline into the fire.

Yesterday, during a debate on highway safety, a point was being made by David Bennett (NDP-CCF-Delta).

"Have you set safety belts in your car?" asked the premier.

"You should have them in your car," shouted John Rogers (NDP-CCF—Alberni), just as the premier sat down again.

Even a seat belt wouldn't help," interjected Ben Harding (NDP-CCF—Kaslo-Slocan).

Siebnier-eye view of "Inner Harbor" will be delivered to city hall today.

3-by-5 Love Letter To City

By TED PULFORD

A YOUNG, long-haired artist will arrive in Mayor R. B. Wilson's office this morning with a large canvas under his arm.

On it is a painting of the Inner Harbor—but it is a likeness of the famed waterway such as neither the mayor nor any other Victorian, in his most vivid imaginings, has ever seen before.

The painter puffing along toward the chief magistrate's office will be Herbert Siebnier, about to begin the most important day in his life.

Love, Thanks

He will present the painting to "the city of Victoria, with love and thanks for giving me a place to live," then rush over to the new courthouse at 10:15 to become a citizen of Canada.

"I owe very much to Victoria," Mr. Siebnier said last night as he lounged beside the blazing three-by-five-foot canvas of the Inner Harbor. "It has given me—as Canada has given me—a place to work in freedom." The German-born painter showed last night into the field of civic abstraction raised a dust over Prince George which hasn't settled yet—hoped Victorians would be more broad-minded over his gift.

No Humor

"Those people have no sense of humor," he scoffed, recalling the uproar raised by the Prince George Chamber of Commerce over a Siebnier "satirical view" of the northern city.

"If they wanted a photographic likeness, then they should be looking at snapshots instead." After carefully pointing out which direction was up on the city's forthcoming gift, Mr. Siebnier admitted that many people were shocked at their first sight of an abstraction—particularly an abstraction of an old landmark.

Europe Tour

For everyone who accuses the controversial Mr. Siebnier of being a pitcher of paint, however, there is someone else to acclaim his work as fresh, imaginative and vigorous.

He has just received a Canada Council grant for research in sculpture-coloring techniques and will leave shortly on a tour of Europe.

It has not yet been decided where in city hall "Inner Harbor" will hang. "They can do what they wish with it," concluded Mr. Siebnier. "It's for the city I love."

Grit Sees Soared Victory

Liberal MLA J. Gordon Gilman thinks Social Credit will be re-elected if Premier Bennett calls a surprise election this year.

The fiery North Vancouver millionaire last night told the legislature the premier shouldn't threaten the opposition with an election. "I believe you would go back in," he told the Socreds.

"You've got enough seats now. You don't need any more."

Liberal leader Ray Perreault winced at his member's remarks.

But Premier Bennett was all smiles.

"There you are," said the premier, turning to Labor Minister Peterson who has been reportedly opposed to calling a surprise election.

CCFer Warns

Labor 'Gangs' Threat

U.S. labor hoodlums may be trying to find their way into the B.C. labor movement, Alex MacDonald (NDP-CCF — Vancouver-East) warned in the legislature yesterday.

His warning was followed by a disclosure from Attorney-General Robert Bonner that a prominent B.C. labor leader has been receiving physical threats. The labor leader is thought to be Pat O'Neil, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

Mr. Bonner said RCMP have been called in to investigate the threats and to investigate the Clayton Stratton killing which has been linked with union activity.

BEAT PICKET

Stratton had been arrested in Vancouver for beating a union picket and was released on $300 bail after saying he had come from Port Angeles especially to take part in the beating.

Stratton, a 42-year-old U.S. seaman was shot after forcing his way into the Vancouver home of Gustav Stratte and pistol-whipping him. It is thought the attack was a case of mistaken identity and that

Mountie Loses A Leg

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—A 41-year-old Terrace man has been charged with attempted murder in the .303-calibre rifle shooting of an RCMP constable who answered a bank holdup alarm.

Charles Augusta Dilley will be arraigned in court before Magistrate C. J. Norrington.

LEG AMPUTATED

Hospital officials said Frazer, the father of a year-old daughter, has had his leg amputated below the knee.

Police said a suspect in the bank holdup was captured by a number of citizens.

Bank employees said the gunman fired a volley of shots through a glass door and hit the policeman as he entered the Bank of Montreal branch. The masked man escaped with an estimated $3,800.

'GUN IS LOADED'

107 Missing In Plane Over Pacific

MANILA (AP)—A chartered airliner bound for South Viet Nam with 107 persons aboard was missing and presumed down in the western Pacific today. The plane carried 93 U.S. military personnel, three South Vietnamese and a civilian crew of 11 Californians.

The Super-Constellation of the Flying Tiger Airlines was last on the Guam-to-the-Philippines leg of a trans-Pacific flight from Travis Air Force Base in northern California.

U.S. bases in the western Pacific mustered an armada of planes and ships to search for the missing plane. All they had to go on was the pilot's last routine radio message to Guam sent about 278 miles west of that U.S. base.

The plane took off from Guam at 8:37 p.m. local time Thursday carrying fuel for about 10 hours of flying. It was due at Clark Air Force Base north of Manila at 3:15 a.m. Friday.

WIDE SEARCH

The search began from Clark and Andersen Air Force Bases on Guam at dawn Friday. U.S. Navy, marine corps and coast guard planes joined in from the Philippines, and several navy vessels set out from Guam. Air force planes from Okinawa were also participating.

BOUND FOR VIET NAM

Military sources in Saigon said the plane was bound for South Viet Nam and was due there this morning.

U.S. Pilots Raid Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary McNamara confirmed yesterday that American pilots had fired on Communist Viet Cong troops while flying training missions under combat conditions in South Viet Nam.

He was the first official to confirm on the record that American pilots had strafed Viet Cong troops.

Three Saved From Ship

Drug Ring Smashed

RACINE, Wis. (UPI)—Federal narcotics agents and Racine County authorities last night arrested five men in what was described as a $75,000 heroin and marijuana ring here.

Skipping Heart Ousts Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heart trouble has forced astronaut Donald Slayton out of his assignment for the next orbital space flight and the job will go to M. Scott Carpenter, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday night.

When Slayton was named as backup pilot on the flight, now tentatively set for April or early May.

Carpenter was backup pilot for John Glenn Jr., whom Glenn made the first U.S. orbital flight last month.

ERRATIC RATE

The civilian space agency announced the change in plans a few hours after an unofficial report was circulated. Doctors described Slayton's difficulty as an "erratic heart rate."

The condition was detected in November of 1959, NASA said. At that time it was decided Slayton, an air force major on loan to NASA, should continue in the program and the condition should be monitored closely.

DISAPPOINTED

An air force medical board meeting Thursday to review the case advised NASA that Slayton should not attempt the mission, known as the official Project Mercury scheduled as MA7. A board of civilian cardiologists confirmed the condition.

On learning the board's decision, Slayton said he is extremely disappointed "to realize that I will not be piloting MA7—well I'm very disappointed to say the least."

GENEVA (CP)—Rival plans

for world disarmament and Russian rejection of a Western nuclear proposal featured the first working day of the 17-nation Geneva conference Thursday.

The Soviet turnaround of President Kennedy's plan for a safeguarded nuclear test ban treaty came at a midline meeting of the three nuclear powers after the end of the 17-nation group's 75-minute deliberations.

Arthur Dean, U.S. nuclear test ban negotiator, proposed conclusion of a treaty based on an earlier Anglo-American draft with modifications to safeguard against secret test preparations. The Soviet negotiator, Sergey

'French Size' Blast

BELGRADE (AP)—A foreign diplomatic source in Albania yesterday predicted Red China will explode its first atomic bomb in a Tibetan desert in June.

The report came from Tirana, Albania's capital, where many Red Chinese officials have congregated since Albanian boss Enver Hoxha's break with Moscow.

BSO IMPACT

The Chinese A-bomb was described as relatively small, about the size of the French bomb exploded on the Sahara.

In spite of its modest size, its detonation is aimed at achieving a tremendous psychological impact on Asia and the rest of the world.

Proximity of a Red China nuclear weapon test has been common knowledge among Western observers for about a week.

Many scientists are surprised that the Chinese have not already tested a bomb in view of the now-relatively simple process of building one.

MANY CAPABLE

While nations which pioneered nuclear technology spent billions of dollars and several years perfecting techniques and producing a practical weapon, scientists now say nuclear capability can be achieved even by countries which are regarded as only semi-industrialized.

One U.S. expert said any country which could field a tonnage of 50 Ph.D.s and 300 engineers could create a nuclear blast.

10 POUNDS FOR BLAST

The prime ingredient, U-235 or plutonium, is produced incidentally by commercially available nuclear power plants. About 10 pounds of plutonium will make a detonator and a collection of detonators can be converted into an H-bomb.

CHAMPAGNE PRICE

Deuterium, a commonly used fissionable material in nuclear bombs, is now 50% more costly than good champagne and not much harder to get.

Western intelligence experts believe the Chinese started their nuclear weapons research during the Korean War and that it is probably headed by French-trained physicist Chien Shi-chang.

AMERICAN ON TEAM

Ironically, reports indicate that a U.S. physicist, Joan Hinton, is one of those employed on the Red Chinese nuclear team. In the U.S. she worked at Los Alamos.

A Russian-built power reactor in China is reported to have been activated more than three years ago and the Japanese report that three other small reactors are probably in operation.

Their total plutonium output would be sufficient to trigger several test weapons.

Small Plane Hits Lake

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Harold Goggin suffered untimely death in a plane crash Thursday when the plane he was piloting failed to make altitude and crashed into a lake, 48 miles southeast of here.

An unidentified passenger in the aircraft was shaken up in the accident but suffered no injuries.

BCE Bus System Offered for $1

By JACK FRY

Premier Bennett yesterday offered to sell the B.C. Electric transit system to the municipalities for a nominal sum of $1.

The premier's offer was made during a special meeting with mayors and reeves of Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver.

He said if they accept his offer, he will introduce in the legislature a bill guaranteeing a fixed subsidy until existing franchises expire, and that future governments will be committed to continue a fixed subsidy for "an undetermined number of years" beyond that time.

It was reported that B.C. Electric lost $1,000,000 in Vancouver and $300,000 in Greater Victoria during the last year of bus operation prior to the franchises expire, and that

Modern Cavalier for Martyr King

LONDON (AP)—Henry Smart Wheatley Crowe celebrated yesterday he has spent £25,000 trying to get King Charles I back on the Church of England calendar.

The 58-year-old retired army captain has gone through his family fortune fighting for the King, who was beheaded in 1649 after the bloody civil war between the Roundheads and Royalists.

It's been a lost cause so far, but Wheatley Crowe declared: "I have no regrets. I shall try to keep on fighting."

He launched the campaign in 1904 by forming a group known as "The Royal Martyr Union."

King Charles had been a devout Christian all his life and after the restoration of the monarchy the Church of England set aside a special feast day for the "martyr king."

But after the 1688 revolution which brought William and Mary to the throne, Charles' name was struck from the church calendar, largely for political reasons.

It has never been put back.

The Royal Martyr Union claimed about 500 members at its peak. Many of them were peers.

"Most of them are dead now," the old cavalier sighed. "People said I wanted my fortune but I've done what I said I'd do. I've tried. And I'd do it again."
